U.S. Debates, But Aids India

10 Nations Pledge Billion Investment

WASHINGTON (AP) — Ten nations including the United States today pledge $1 billion to India's economic development, although U.S.-Indian relations have plummeted to sub-freezing levels.

Indian diplomatic sources said that Prime Minister Lal Bahadur Shastri will be unable to come to the United States next fall and will defer the visit to Washington until it is convenient for him to do so.

This was the delayed reaction to President Johnson's sudden request last Thursday that Shastri and Pakistan President Mohammed Ayub Khan defer their visits to this country until next fall because Johnson was so occupied with congressional affairs and the problems of Viet Nam.

Indian officials have been highly critical of Johnson's Viet Nam policies.

Indian diplomatic sources here said the United States was the only country in the world that pursues a policy of doing to one country as you would do to the other.

An Indian source said the United States apparently thinks that if it gives $1 billion in assistance, it is able to buy friendship, but this is not the case.

The U.S. share of the aid is $435 million for the fourth year of the five-year economic program.

Other nations participating in the so-called "aid India club" are Britain, France, West Germany, Italy, Japan, Belgium, the Netherlands, Austria and Canada.

Strangulation Of 4 Tots Is Mystery

SOUTH BEND, Ind. (AP) — Police said today they have been unable to determine a reason for the strangling Tuesday of the four children of a woman whose husband was away much of the time on business trips.

The mother, Deanna Hanbey, 28, was in Memorial Hospital with her wrists and heels slashed. Police said she begged a hospital aide to "let her die." She was placed under constant guard.

Police Capt. Floyd Zellers said it was murder and attempted suicide.

The four bodies were found on their smoldering mattresses in the Hanbey home after neighbors reported smoke was coming from it. Mrs. Hanbey was found on a bedroom floor. She had a necktie knotted about her neck in addition to the cuts.

The father and husband, Edward Hanbey, was away on a business trip. He is an auditor.

Police said three of the children were strangled with a woman's stocking and the fourth with a necktie.

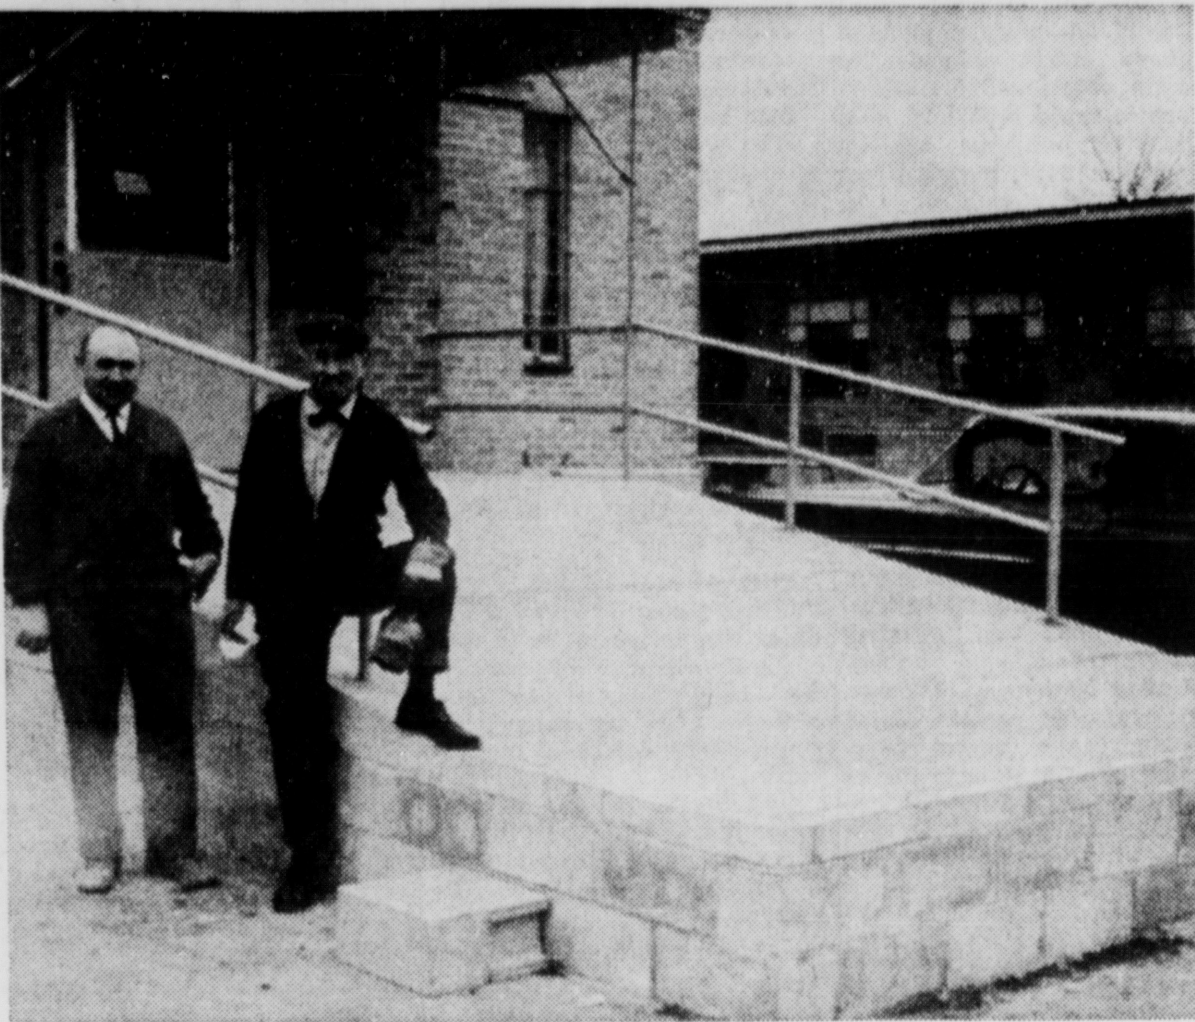

Lawman Embarrassed; Woman Steals His Car

SPOKANE, Wash. (AP) — Capt. Ernest C. Pintler, the Spokane County sheriff's department was embarrassed by having to report the theft of his own car.

Capt. Pintler said he had left the keys in the car, taken from his driveway early Tuesday.

Police arrested Nordeen D. Schenk, 26, and charged her with the theft. She told officers she had been at a party in Pintler's neighborhood and couldn't find a ride home.

LONG NEEDED RAMP — A long needed sloping ramp at the emergency entrance to Berger Hospital has been constructed through the voluntary and expense-free efforts of Talmer Wise, retired Circleville fire chief. In commending Wise today, Ellen Leist, Berger administrator, extended thanks to the following firms for contributing materials: Basic Construction, Sturm and Dillard, Raleigh Spradlin, Cellar Lumber Co., Tomlinson Welding and the Defenbaugh Funeral Home for a cash donation. Wise (right) and Richard Shaw, district manager for Basic Construction, inspect the new ramp.

Councilman Resigns Post; Sewage Permit Is Renewed

City Council last night accepted the resignation of Third Ward solon Robert Hedges.

Hedges was in the midst of completing his second term as the Third Ward's lawmaking delegate. The resignation was brought about by his moving to the First Ward.

However, the former solon has already declared his intentions to regain a council post. He is one of three Democrats seeking a council-at-large nomination at the May primary.

One of Hedges' key posts as a Third Ward solon was chairman of the finance committee. This job has been assumed by First Ward Councilman Frank Barnhill.

ACCORDING to councilmen, they have 30 days to name a replacement for Hedges. In case

Steel Negotiators Said 'Far Apart'

PITTSBURGH (AP) — The basic steel industry and the United Steelworkers — reported still far apart — resume contract bargaining today under the pressure of an upcoming union meeting that could produce some decisive action.

Informed sources said the industry rejected Tuesday as too costly a union offer to extend the present contract beyond the May 1 deadline for an 18-cent-an-hour pay hike. The union last week turned down an industry offer of a five-cent hourly raise.

"The disagreement is of such magnitude the parties aren't even in speaking distance of each other," said a source close to the negotiations.

PORTLAND, Ore. (AP) — A commercial airline says there is a way to get through the winter fogs which tie up many airports.

For this you need a small plane with a hole in it and some ground-up dry ice.

When fog stops the airliners, up goes the small plane. Once over the airport, the pilot begins throwing the dry-ice pellets through a hole in the side or bottom of the plane.

United Air Lines says that more than 80 per cent of the time a corridor opens in the fog, big enough to allow liners to land and take off. Sometimes the corridor lasts all day.

It took nearly 20 years to convince United Air Lines officials. Last winter United tried it 74 times at 6 airports and it worked 60 times. Some 5,500 passengers got through, including 2,000 on rival lines.

The procedure has been used at Medford, Ore., for 15 years.

United has used it successfully on a small scale for two winters. The airline thinks it should be extended to at least 12

U.S. Canal Negotiator Is Named by President

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Johnson is naming a special ambassador to handle negotiations on a possible new canal linking the Atlantic and Pacific oceans.

He is John N. Irwin II, 51, a native of Keokuk, Iowa, who lives in New York. Irwin is a former assistant secretary of defense for international security affairs.

Held said he would introduce in City Council today a motion that could lead to releasing first-time minor crime offenders on their own recognizance.

The girls, both 18-year-old Miami University students, were convicted of petit larceny Tuesday. They were accused of taking $32 worth of clothing from a department store and were held in jail Monday night.

Held said he interviewed the girls Tuesday and said they "were subjected to outrageous incarceration and shocking indignities not in keeping with the degree and severity of their crime."

"They were shocked and horrified," Held said, "by the subjection to incarceration in a jail that belongs in the middle ages, in the company of a prostitute who delighted in taunting them with four-letter words throughout the night."

The coeds were not sentenced, pending a probation investigation.

"I've lived in this house 10 years," said Mrs. Sam Ferris, "and I don't intend to let a little water drive me out."

Red Trucking Hit by Planes

Navy Attacks In North Again

SAIGON, South Viet Nam (AP) — U.S. Navy planes struck through the night at Communist truck convoys in North Viet Nam. One plane was lost. Results of the strikes were not known.

Other U.S. and Vietnamese warplanes flew a number of missions against suspected Viet Cong concentrations inside South Viet Nam. Some of the heaviest strikes were in Quang Tin Province where Vietnamese forces were mauled Sunday and Monday by Viet Cong guerrillas.

Two A4 Skyhawks from the 7th Fleet carrier Hancock prowled Highway 1 north from the north-south border early today. They made passes at two trucks south of Dong Hoi, firing 20mm cannon. The pilots said they were unable to assess the damage, if any.

About an hour later, four more Skyhawks flew the same route and reported sighting more trucks, closer to the border. They strafed the vehicles with rockets and cannon fire and reported seeing a bright flash after one pass, possibly caused by a secondary explosion.

All of these planes returned safely to the Hancock. They reported light, sporadic anti-aircraft fire at several places.

Five A4 Skyhawks from the carrier Midway were the first group of raiders out after dark Tuesday night. Supported by five F4 Phantom jets and F8 Crusaders, the Skyhawks struck at a truck convoy about 120 miles north of the 17th Parallel.

One of the planes was downed and the pilot was listed as missing.

A Navy spokesman said the Skyhawks carried out what is officially known as an armed route reconnaissance along Highway 12, north of the city of Vinh to the 20th Parallel. Vinh is near the Gulf of Tonkin coast.

The spokesman said the planes were over the target area from 9 to 10 p.m. and that they encountered heavy anti-aircraft fire over some sections. No enemy planes were sighted.

Kids Lauded For Helping Fight Flood

CLINTON, Iowa, (AP) — Grownpups who have been battling angry floods in the Midwest for nearly a month are quick to give credit for the help of school children.

If the youngsters sometimes seem to get underfoot filling and hauling sandbags it can be laid to eagerness. But officials concede that without their help many a levee couldn't have been raised in time.

Among the thousands of high school and junior high pupils who have enlisted in the fight against the Mississippi River were the children on the job here Tuesday.

Fifteen of nearly 1,300 who had been excused from school for the day were at the spot where sandbags had been placed on top of a cinder block wall behind the Clinton baseball stadium.

Gov. Harold Hughes was in the area conferring with officials on steps taken to hold back the river. He saw school children at work with their elders.

"People are quick to criticize our kids," he said, "Here on the river they have worked longer and harder than some of the adults. They deserve a lot of credit."

In Clinton, all school absences were canceled today. City authorities said there was no further need for student volunteers.

U.S., To Step Up Aid to Viet Nam

Washington (AP) — Secretary of Defense Robert S. McNamara, returning today from a strategy meeting in Hawaii, said infiltration of men and arms from the North into South Viet Nam has increased "at a high rate" in recent months.

Thus the secretary, in a plane-side exchange, backgrounded the statement he made to newsmen Tuesday night in Honolulu that American air and sea action against North Viet Nam will be stepped up. He made that forecast at the close of two days of conferences with top military leaders from Saigon and Washington.

In answer to a question about reasons for such stepped-up action, McNamara said: "We sometimes fail to understand the importance of the action in South Viet Nam."

To another question about the threat of Soviet anti-aircraft missiles in North Viet Nam, McNamara said he thinks "we should anticipate that eventually" but there is no information yet that the missiles are on the site.

McNamara said that in a recent engagement with two Viet Cong units, 90 per cent of small arms captured and 100 per cent of larger weapons were of Chinese or Communist-bloc manufacture.

Of U.S. assistance to South Viet Nam, McNamara said aid will be increased "above originally planned levels."

"We must seek to overcome the strategic disadvantage the South Vietnamese have versus the Viet Cong in terms of traditional guerrilla-to-guerrilla tactics by adding to the mobility and firepower of these forces."

Specifically, he said more helicopter and close air support is required. He would not say

Athens Plans Government Day Program

WASHINGTON (AP) — A demonstration of operations of the space program will be one of the features of "U.S. Government Day" exercises April 28 at Athens, Ohio, Rep. Walter H. Moeller, D-Ohio, announced today.

"The purpose of this program is to bring our government closer to the people, to help advise younger people on career opportunities, and to demonstrate just what the national government is doing to improve the country in which we live," Moeller said.

Moeller, one of the sponsors of the program, said he and his staff will be on hand through out the day to talk with anyone concerned with any matter involving the federal government.

An exact scale model of the Mercury capsule which took Col. John Glenn into space will be on display. Films of Ranger 7 speeding to the moon also will be shown.

South Viet Purge Urged

TOKYO (AP) — Red China said today the Republic of South Viet Nam must be destroyed as a "product of U.S. imperialism" so that all Viet Nam can be reunified.

"There can be no compromise between the Vietnamese people and the U.S. aggressors on this question," said the Chinese Communist party paper, the Peking People's Daily.

Attacking President Johnson's April 17 statement that the United States insists that the independence of South Viet Nam be guaranteed, Peking said:

"The very purpose for which the South Vietnamese people are fighting at great sacrifice to themselves is to destroy completely this so-called 'independent country,' a product of U.S.

whether more American combat troops will be sent to South Viet Nam.

McNamara said the basis for greater use of the American Navy is the use of sea routes by North Viet Nam to infiltrate men and equipment.

U.S. Navy forces will continue to operate outside territorial waters, he said, but "they will note and detect suspicious vessels, will follow them, will report them to the South Vietnamese navy, who will follow them into South Viet Nam territorial waters and inspect them."

He said the United States also will give South Viet Nam more small craft for this purpose.

AMA Girds To Battle Medicare

CHICAGO (AP) — The American Medical Association, victor in all its previous battles against compulsory health insurance, plans to carry its fight to the final bell against the Johnson administration's health-care-for-the-aged bill.

"We will testify before the Senate Finance Committee against the medicare bill," Dr. E.B. Howard, assistant executive vice president of the AMA said today. "We still feel the eldercare bill is superior to this one."

The health-care bill backed by the Johnson administration passed the House earlier this month by a 313-115 vote. It is now before the Senate. The House Ways and Means Committee, which approved the medicare bill, did not consider the rival AMA-backed eldercare bill.

The AMA spent nearly $1 million earlier this year in a whirlwind campaign aimed at winning public support for the eldercare program. That plan would provide hospital and medical care for persons over 65 who need financial help to meet such expenses.

The health-care bill would raise Social Security taxes, boost cash retirement benefits and provide retirement health care benefits to all eligible persons. It also would extend the present Kerr-Mills medical assistance for the needy-aged program to all indigents.

Luci To Open Colorful Norfolk Azalea Festival

NORFOLK, Va. (AP) — Norfolk's 12th annual Azalea Festival opens today with the arrival of the festival queen, Luci Baines Johnson, 17, the President's younger daughter.

Luci's arrival at Norfolk Airport heralds four days of festivities which come to a climax Saturday with the arrival of the remainder of the Johnson family and the coronation of Queen Luci. The President is scheduled to place the crown on her head.

Dems Pay Copter Bill

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Democratic National Committee paid $2,019.38 for the use of military helicopters by President Johnson during the 1964 presidential campaign, the Defense Department said today.

In addition, he said, he is sending each of the officials a 154-page catalog detailing the nature and scope of federal assistance programs available to local governments.

The People's Daily charged that the United States "has gradually turned South Viet Nam into its colony and military base and clamped a most brutal fascist rule on the region."

Recalling the coups of recent years, it continued: "Finding Ngo Dinh Diem not

Rights Slaying Case Pondered

FBI Agent Said With Assassins

HAYNEVILLE, Ala. (AP) — One of the four men originally arrested in the night-killer slaying of Viola Liuzzo testified for about two hours before a Lowndes County grand jury nearing the end of its probe into the case.

Gary Thomas Rowe, 34, of Birmingham, was a guarded closely during his appearance Tuesday. Then he was taken to an undisclosed location.

The New York Times reported that Rowe was an undercover agent for the FBI for the past six years. Circumstances indicate, the newspaper said, that Rowe was in the assassins' car when Mrs. Liuzzo was killed, but could not prevent the shooting.

The government dismissed charges against Rowe some time after his arrest.

Another who testified was Leroy Moton, 19, a Selma Negro who was with Mrs. Liuzzo when gunfire from a passing car killed her a few hours after the end of the Selma-to-Montgomery civil rights march.

The Detroit mother of five was on the way back to Montgomery after taking some marchers to Selma. The shooting occurred March 25 near Lowndesboro on U.S. 80.

Two state investigators, several federal agents and a toxicologist appeared before the jury the past two days.

The other three arrested in the case were indicted by a federal grand jury in Montgomery on charges of conspiring to violate the constitutional rights of demonstrators.

They are Eugene Thomas, 42, and William Orville Eaton, 41, both of Bessemer, and Collie Leroy Wilkins Jr., 21, of Fairfield. They are free on bonds of $50,000 each pending arraignment. (Continued on Page Two)

Local Appalachia Effort Is Urged

WASHINGTON (AP) — A concerted local effort to make Southeastern Ohio communities more attractive to industry and individuals was urged today by Rep. Walter M. Moeller, D-Ohio.

Moeller, a backer of the Appalachian Regional Development Act, said he will invite each mayor and county commissioner in Southeast Ohio to Washington for a series of meetings with officials who administer community facilities programs.

In addition, he said, he is sending each of the officials a 154-page catalog detailing the nature and scope of federal assistance programs available to local governments.

City Awaits Flood Crest

LA CROSSE, Wis. (AP) — La Crosse was worn but ready today in the crisis hours of its struggle against a record flood crest rolling through the Mississippi River valley.

The river has swelled to 17.7 feet, only inches short of an expected 18-foot crest, due to rain five miles of protective dikes before day's end and hold through Friday.

After 48 hours of frenzied labor on the dikes, flood fighters had won a standoff. Crews were given a brief rest shortly after midnight before returning to raise and reinforce the dikes.

The river already had claimed some victories. Water ringed the city's north side and had swept over two of three runways at the municipal airport on French Island. Phone service was cut to both locations.

A guard remained posted at a 15-million-gallon gasoline tank farm where one tank, holding 107,000 gallons, was tipped at a 10-degree angle when a dike crumbled Monday. Water swirled eight feet deep around the self-sealing tanks and the potential fire danger added to the city's uneasiness.

Downstream at Clinton, Iowa, a 75-foot section of a cement retaining wall collapsed without warning Tuesday, injuring 15 young volunteer flood fighters. Eleven were released after hospital treatment. Four were held for observation.

The five-foot-high wall is part of a mile-long dike officials hope will prevent major flood damage. The wall buckled under the weight of sandbags piled on top and the pressure of sand dumped against one side.

The rising waters still were some distance from the break, and flood fighters immediately began to plug the hole.

At Marquette, Iowa, the river reached 23 feet Tuesday on the way to a crest of 24.5 feet expected Friday.

Marquette is across the river from Prairie du Chien, Wis., where officials were wondering what to do about an elderly man and wife who have refused to leave their home.

The flood waters are only 50 feet away and the crest is still to come.

"I've lived in this house 10 years," said Mrs. Sam Ferris, "and I don't intend to let a little water drive me out."

Sprinkles of Dry Ice Cut Winter Fog at Airports

PORTLAND, Ore. (AP) — A commercial airline says there is a way to get through the winter fogs which tie up many airports.

For this you need a small plane with a hole in it and some ground-up dry ice.

When fog stops the airliners, up goes the small plane. Once over the airport, the pilot begins showing the dry-ice pellets through a hole in the side or bottom of the plane.

The procedure has been used at Medford, Ore., for 15 years.

United has used it successfully on a small scale for two winters. The airline thinks it should be extended to at least 12 other airports, including Washington, Detroit and Chicago.

It will not work every place. Los Angeles, for example, probably can expect no fog relief.

Northern airports will benefit because their fog occurs at colder temperatures.

What makes it work is the dry ice which is frozen carbon dioxide. It is 110 degrees below zero Fahrenheit when solidified. United officials say it works best when the fog occurs at temperatures between 24 and 28 degrees. This is called supercooled fog.

This is what they believe happens:

When dry ice pellets are released, they begin to turn to gas. This takes heat from the air. In this intense cooling, moisture begins to collect into ice particles and to descend. They pick up other particles and eventually turn into a light snow. No fog remains.

A General Electric scientist in Massachusetts discovered the effect in a glass chamber in 1946.

"There can be no compromise between the Vietnamese people and the U.S. aggressors on this question," said the Chinese Communist party paper, the Peking People's Daily.

Attacking President Johnson's April 17 statement that the United States insists that the independence of South Viet Nam be guaranteed, Peking said:

"The very purpose for which the South Vietnamese people are fighting at great sacrifice to themselves is to destroy completely this so-called 'independent country,' a product of U.S.

whether more American combat troops will be sent to South Viet Nam.

McNamara said the basis for greater use of the American Navy is the use of sea routes by North Viet Nam to infiltrate men and equipment.

U.S. Navy forces will continue to operate outside territorial waters, he said, but "they will note and detect suspicious vessels, will follow them, will report them to the South Vietnamese navy, who will follow them into South Viet Nam territorial waters and inspect them."

He said the United States also will give South Viet Nam more small craft for this purpose.

AMA Girds To Battle Medicare

CHICAGO (AP) — The American Medical Association, victor in all its previous battles against compulsory health insurance, plans to carry its fight to the final bell against the Johnson administration's health-care-for-the-aged bill.

"We will testify before the Senate Finance Committee against the medicare bill," Dr. E.B. Howard, assistant executive vice president of the AMA said today. "We still feel the eldercare bill is superior to this one."

The health-care bill backed by the Johnson administration passed the House earlier this month by a 313-115 vote. It is now before the Senate. The House Ways and Means Committee, which approved the medicare bill, did not consider the rival AMA-backed eldercare bill.

The AMA spent nearly $1 million earlier this year in a whirlwind campaign aimed at winning public support for the eldercare program. That plan would provide hospital and medical care for persons over 65 who need financial help to meet such expenses.

The health-care bill would raise Social Security taxes, boost cash retirement benefits and provide retirement health care benefits to all eligible persons. It also would extend the present Kerr-Mills medical assistance for the needy-aged program to all indigents.

Luci To Open Colorful Norfolk Azalea Festival

NORFOLK, Va. (AP) — Norfolk's 12th annual Azalea Festival opens today with the arrival of the festival queen, Luci Baines Johnson, 17, the President's younger daughter.

Luci's arrival at Norfolk Airport heralds four days of festivities which come to a climax Saturday with the arrival of the remainder of the Johnson family and the coronation of Queen Luci. The President is scheduled to place the crown on her head.

Rights Slaying Case Pondered

FBI Agent Said With Assassins

HAYNEVILLE, Ala. (AP) — One of the four men originally arrested in the night-ride slaying of Viola Liuzzo testified for about two hours before Lowndes County grand jury nearing the end of its probe into the case.

Gary Thomas Rowe, 34, of Birmingham, was guarded closely during his appearance Tuesday. Then he was taken to an undisclosed location.

The New York Times reported that Rowe was an undercover agent for the FBI for the past six years. Circumstances indicate, the newspaper said, that Rowe was in the assassins' car when Mrs. Liuzzo was killed, but could not prevent the shooting.

The government dismissed charges against Rowe some time after his arrest.

Another who testified was Leroy Moton, 19, a Selma Negro who was with Mrs. Liuzzo when gunfire from a passing car killed her a few hours after the end of the Selma-to-Montgomery civil rights march.

The Detroit mother of five was on the way back to Montgomery after taking some marchers to Selma. The shooting occurred March 25 near Lowndesboro on U.S. 80.

Two state investigators, several federal agents and a toxicologist appeared before the jury the past two days.

The other three arrested in the case were indicted by a federal grand jury in Montgomery on charges of conspiring to violate the constitutional rights of demonstrators.

They are Eugene Thomas, 42, and William Orville Eaton, 41, both of Bessemer, and Collier Leroy Wilkins Jr., 21, of Fairfield. They are free on bonds of $50,000 each pending arraignment.

Local Appalachia Effort Is Urged

WASHINGTON (AP) — A concerted local effort to make Southeastern Ohio communities more attractive to industry and individuals was urged today by Rep. Walter M. Moeller, D-Ohio.

Moeller, a backer of the Appalachian Regional Development Act, said he will invite each mayor and county commissioner in Southeast Ohio to Washington for a series of meetings with officials who administer community facilities programs.

In addition, he said, he is sending each of the officials a 154-page catalog detailing the nature and scope of federal assistance programs available to local governments.

City Awaits Flood Crest

LA CROSSE, Wis. (AP) — La Crosse was worn but ready today in the crisis hours of its struggle against a record flood crest rolling through the Mississippi River valley.

The river has swelled to 17.7 feet, only inches short of an expected 18-foot crest, due to ram five miles of protective dikes before day's end and hold through Friday.

After 48 hours of frenzied labor on the dikes, flood fighters had won a standoff. Crews were given a brief rest shortly after midnight before returning to raise and reinforce the dikes.

The river already had claimed some victories. Water ringed the city's north side and had swept over two of three runways at the municipal airport on French Island. Phone service was cut to both locations.

A guard remained posted at a 15-million-gallon gasoline tank farm where one tank, holding 107,000 gallons, was tipped at a 10-degree angle when a dike crumbled Monday. Water swirled eight feet deep around the self-sealing tanks and the potential fire danger added to the city's uneasiness.

Downstream at Clinton, Iowa, a 75-foot section of a cement retaining wall collapsed without warning Tuesday, injuring 15 young volunteer flood fighters. Eleven were released after hospital treatment. Four were held for observation.

The five-foot-high wall is part of a mile-long dike officials hope will prevent major flood damage. The wall buckled under the weight of sandbags piled on top and the pressure of sand dumped against one side.

The rising waters still were some distance from the break, and flood fighters immediately began to plug the hole.

At Marquette, Iowa, the river reached 23 feet Tuesday on the way to a crest of 24.5 feet expected Friday.

Marquette is across the river from Prairie du Chien, Wis., where officials were wondering what to do about an elderly man and wife who have refused to leave their home.

The flood waters are only 50 feet away and the crest is still to come.

"I've lived in this house 10 years," said Mrs. Sam Ferris, "and I don't intend to let a little water drive me out."

Red China Seen Trying To Ignite U.S.-Soviet Fuss

By WILLIAM L. RYAN
AP News Analyst

Red China's renewed threat to send volunteers to Viet Nam appears to be a result of a contest between the two big Communist powers. The contest is bringing about the Communists' own form of escalation of the peril in Southeast Asia.

The Red Chinese have seemed to be trying to force Moscow to become more and more involved in a bellicose quarrel with the United States. Peking now indicates it believes it is on the way to achieving such a goal.

The standing committee of the National People's Congress in Peking announces it has called on Chinese organizations to "make preparations" to send their own people to fight the Americans in Viet Nam.

The question is whether this is a relay threat to intervene or a signal to the Communist world that Red China is more willing and more able than the Soviet Union to call the shots in Southeast Asia. The latter seems the case.

Peking — as before — still is "prepared" to send volunteers. It has not said it will send them. Several ifs are attached to the broadside — if "U.S. imperialism continues to escalate" the war; if the Vietnamese ask such help. Peking will be the judge of the first if. As for the second, there are strong doubts that Hanoi is anxious to have a flood of Chinese volunteers.

There is strong evidence that the Moscow-Peking struggle for influence in the Communist and underdeveloped worlds is involved in Peking's threats.

As if accusing the Russians of failing in their duty to the world revolution, the Peking announcement said: "The Chinese people have always been infinitely loyal in fulfilling their proletarian internationalist obligations. They have never spared any sacrifice whatever in this respect. They always mean what they say. Both past and present struggles testify to this."

For the present, the Red Chinese are likely to leave well enough alone. In the first place, they appear to be satisfied that from their point of view the war is producing cruel attrition against South Viet Nam and equally cruel attrition on U.S. nerves and staying power.

It is extremely doubtful that Ho Chi Min, North Viet Nam's leader, wants Chinese volunteers. Repeatedly, North Viet Nam's propaganda has pronounced the willingness of the Vietnamese to hold out 20 years, if necessary, for unification of the country on Hanoi's terms.

But the Russian voice, denouncing the Americans and promising more help to North Viet Nam, has become louder and more insistent, as if prodded by the contest with the Chinese.

When the Russians stepped up their promises and their denunciations of the United States, the Chinese apparently sought not only to match the Russians but to go one better.

Nevertheless, Peking has been prudent about its own involvement and the prospects of a direct showdown with American power. Volunteers might be "preparing" to go to Viet Nam, but the chances are they will not be sent unless the Chinese see a possibility that the Americans can win.

Firemen at Dump For 90 Minutes

Circleville Fire Department spent nearly 1½ hours yesterday afternoon at a smoldering dump owned by John Bowers, northwest of Circleville in Circleville Twp.

Firemen were summoned to the dump at about 3:40 p. m. and attempted to keep the fire under control for 90 minutes. No damage resulted.

menment in Montgomery. President Johnson announced their arrests and said they were members of the Ku Klux Klan.

Meanwhile, sit-ins were in progress at Camden and Montgomery, Ala.

Sheriff P. C. Jenkins said about 200 Negroes, most of them teen-agers, set up camp at Antioch Baptist church in Camden.

"They said they would camp there until the Board of Registrars is moved to the courthouse and meets five days a week," Jenkins said. "I don't know how long that will take."

The registrars' office was shifted from the courthouse to an old jail building for more space nearly two years ago. State law provides for two sessions per month.

About 20 students began a sit-in at the administration building of Alabama State College in Montgomery. They said they were protesting inadequate classroom and library facilities, lack of accreditation, and the college's attitude toward civil rights demonstrations by the students.

In Atlanta, Dr. Martin Luther King Jr. and members of his staff met with singer Harry Belafonte and civil rights youth leaders to discuss details of an economic boycott on Alabama.

No decision was announced afterward. Belafonte said only that he met with King and leaders of the Student Nonviolent Coordinating Committee.

LBJ Lauds Southern Racial Gains

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Johnson has commended Southerners striving for better race relations and said:

"Neither a voting rights act nor any other civil rights act will solve the civil rights problems of the nation or insure equal justice and equal opportunity for all our Negro citizens. These goals can be achieved only as the result of individual understanding, or community responsibility and of national good faith."

The President specifically commended the 22 Alabama business groups that advertised their commitment toward better racial communication and the leaders of Selma for deciding to endorse the advertisements.

"Assuredly," Johnson said, "racial problems will persist, not only in Alabama, and not only in the South. But for this to happen in a city where group feelings have been inflamed suggests, I think, that men of reason and good will can prevail in all parts of our country. There could be no more encouraging fact."

The President's statement, issued Tuesday by the White House, was made at a Cabinet meeting.

In it, he noted Congress is returning after an Easter recess and said he hopes it "will now continue its excellent display of deliberation with speed and enact the voting rights bill without delay."

Viet Nam Labeled Key To Trend of World in '65

NEW YORK (AP) — United Nations Secretary-General U Thant said today he believes the whole trend of international relations in 1965 will be affected by developments in Viet Nam, and by the ability of the parties involved "to find some basis for mutual accommodation, if not for a permanent settlement."

In an address to the annual convention of the American Newspaper Publishers Association, Thant said:

"The importance of the part which can be played by the press of the world in creating an atmosphere in which solutions become possible can hardly be exaggerated, for in the long run there is no substitute for an informed and enlightened public opinion."

Minor Injuries Listed in Mishap

An Ashville man escaped serious injury yesterday evening in a mishap that occurred after he lost control of his auto on Route 23 near the intersection of Route 752.

Richard Noggle, 21, was taken to Mercy Hospital, Columbus, where he received treatment for cuts of the left leg and left side of his face. He was later released.

State patrolmen said Noggle was heading south on Route 23, at about 9:15 p. m., when the accident occurred. His auto went into the median, traveled about 390 feet, skidded across the highway and off the road and into the ditch on the right side.

A utility pole was "clipped off" before the vehicle came to a halt, patrolmen said.

No citation has been issued at noon today, but patrolmen were still investigating the accident.

Muny Court Fines Seven Motorists

Disposition of seven traffic violations were made in Circleville Municipal Court today according to the court's daily docket.

Forfeiting $29 bonds for exceeding the speed limit by 10 miles per hour were Ida Louise Plummer, 48, New Boston, and Thomas A. Shafer, 22, Columbus.

Andrew M. Henry, 53, Delaware, was fined $15 and costs for failing to have a new auto registration.

Henry Clay Greene, 42, Grove City; George W. Lindner, Bloomfield Hills, Mich.; and Louel Jamison, Ecorse, Mich.; each was fined $10 and costs for speeding 70 miles per hour in a 60 mile zone.

Bruce Wilson, 22, Columbus, paid a $10 fine for operating a vehicle without a muffler.

EDWARDS AIR FORCE BASE, Calif. (AP) — The giant XB70A experimental bomber reached 59,000-foot altitude and 1,500-mile-an-hour speed Tuesday on its highest and fastest flight to date.

Councilman . .

Councilman John Jenkins reported that he has received several complaints on the skate board "fad" that is now popular with the younger set. Property owners contend the boards make for hazardous walking and that they are hard on sidewalks.

The possibility of drafting an ordinance limiting use of the skate boards was discussed, although no definite action was taken. Solon David Crawford described the boards on wheels as "a currently popular fad that might soon diminish."

One of several communications read concerned an application by Palm's Salvage, Inc. for a carry-out permit. The request was filed with the State Department of Liquor Control.

THE APPLICATION is for the firm's new location on N. Court St., formerly the site of Kippy-Kit here. The request has been referred to local authorities by the state office for possible objections or remarks.

Objections, if any, must be submitted to the Board of Liquor Control. Police Chief Robert Temple said there have been no complaints to date. The location is in a commercial area.

In the way of non-legislative matters, the lawmakers agreed to accept a section of northend street that previously had not been dedicated to the city due to an oversight.

The request was made by attorney J. W. Adkins, representing a property owner in the area who desires to sell his home. The street is known as Lynwood Court.

Adkins said the Central Development Co. of Columbus, developer of the area, has agreed to deed the land involved to the city, providing Council was willing to accept it.

The immediate site, involving four properties, has been utilized as a street since 1954. Adkins said the city's acceptance would be at no expense, other than maintenance that already has been provided on a routine basis.

Station Entry Probed Here

Pickaway County Sheriff's Department today investigated a burglary at a service station at Routes 316 and 104.

Deputy John Wolford said the intruders gained entry by removing a rear door that had been temporarily installed following tornado damage a week ago Sunday.

Operator of the service station is Mrs. Edith Hart. She told Deputy Wolford an inventory would have to be completed to determine what was taken.

She did note, however, that several cartons of cigarettes were missing.

HOUSTON, Tex. (AP) — They're going to bring the circus to the biggest big top yet, Houston's new domed stadium.

To get here the Ringling Bros. and Barnum & Bailey Circus will make the longest detour in its 95-year-history.

Wolcott Fenner, vice president and director of promotions, said Tuesday the show will travel from Toronto to Houston and then double back to Chicago after six performances June 10-13.

He said the stadium's 50,000 seats for a circus crowd would compensate for the added mileage.

Modern-Day Geography More Than Map-Making

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Geographers are charting a new course through science.

Today's geographer is no dusty map maker cloistered with his globe. Instead, he may be the man who advised a supermarket chain where to put the store where you buy your groceries.

Papers presented at the annual convention here of the Association of American Geographers cover such pedantic territory as "A Study of Transverse Crevasse in the Upper Kaskawulsh Glacier, Yukon Territory."

But they also range over the problems of Appalachia, map-making as a retail marketing tool, development of space exploration and even a discussion of "geographical approaches to peace."

In a day when traditional boundaries of scientific endeavor are melting—so that a physicist may work in chemistry or medicine—geographers feel they are coming into their own.

Geography might almost be termed a field which skirts scientific specialties to become a new specialty, said Richard Silvernail, an assistant professor of geography at Ohio State University and a host for the gathering of 1,250 geographers.

He defines geography as "the study of space and how man utilizes it."

Bart J. Epstein, a geographer for a rubber company, calls it "a spatial or area relationship" and says that the common denominator of all geographers—whether college teachers or supermarket site pickers—"is the spatial aspect."

Another college teacher, Bob Kates of Clark University in Worcester, Mass., agrees geography is a science of "man in space...the interplay between man and nature."

This, the geographers say, can include economics, transportation history, geology, mathematics and bits from a variety of other fields. Geography in the sense of map-making is only a beginning.

"We're more than map-makers," says Epstein. "You don't have to be a geographer to make a map."

There is strong evidence that the Moscow-Peking struggle for influence in the Communist and underdeveloped worlds is involved in Peking's threats.

As if accusing the Russians of failing in their duty to the revolution, the Peking announcement said: "The Chinese people have always been infinitely loyal in fulfilling their proletarian internationalist obligations. They have never spared any sacrifice whatever in this respect. They always mean what they say. Both past and present struggles testify to this."

For the present, the Red Chinese are likely to leave well enough alone. In the first place, they appear to be satisfied that from their point of view the war is producing cruel attrition against South Viet Nam and equally cruel attrition on U.S. nerves and staying power.

It is extremely doubtful that Ho Chi Min, North Viet Nam's leader, wants Chinese volunteers. Repeatedly, North Viet Nam's propaganda has pronounced the willingness of the Vietnamese to hold out 20 years, if necessary, for unification of the country on Hanoi's terms.

But the Russian voice, denouncing the Americans and promising more help to North Viet Nam, has become louder and more insistent, as if prodded by the contest with the Chinese.

When the Russians stepped up their promises and their denunciations of the United States, the Chinese apparently sought not only to match the Russians but go them one better.

Nevertheless, Peking has been prudent about its own involvement and the prospects of a direct showdown with American power. Volunteers might be "preparing" to go to Viet Nam, but the chances are they will not be sent unless the Chinese see a possibility that the Americans can win.

Firemen at Dump For 90 Minutes

Circleville Fire Department spent nearly 1½ hours yesterday afternoon at a smoldering dump owned by John Bowers, northwest of Circleville in Circleville Twp.

Firemen were summoned to the dump at about 3:40 p. m. and attempted to keep the fire under control for 90 minutes. No damage resulted.

ment in Montgomery. President Johnson announced their arrests and said they were members of the Ku Klux Klan.

Meanwhile, sit-ins were in progress at Camden and Montgomery, Ala. Sheriff P. C. Jenkins said about 200 Negroes, most of them teenagers, set up camp at Antioch Baptist church in Camden.

"They said they would camp there until the Board of Registrars is moved to the courthouse and meets five days a week," Jenkins said. "I don't know how long that will take."

The registrars' office was shifted from the courthouse to an old jail building for more space nearly two years ago. State law provides for two sessions per month.

About 20 students began a sit-in at the administration building of Alabama State College in Montgomery. They said they were protesting inadequate classroom and library facilities, lack of accreditation, and the college's attitude toward civil rights demonstrations by the students.

In Atlanta, Dr. Martin Luther King Jr. and members of his staff met with singer Harry Belafonte and civil rights youth leaders to discuss details of an economic boycott on Alabama.

No decision was announced afterward. Belafonte said only that he met with King and leaders of the Student Nonviolent Coordinating Committee.

LBJ Lauds Southern Racial Gains

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Johnson has commended Southerners striving for better race relations and said:

"Neither a voting rights act nor any other civil rights act will solve the civil rights problems of the nation or insure equal justice and equal opportunity for all our Negro citizens. 'These goals can be achieved only as the result of individual understanding, or community responsibility and of national good faith.'"

The President specifically commended the 22 Alabama business groups that advertised their commitment toward better racial communication and the leaders of Selma for deciding to endorse the advertisements.

"Assuredly," Johnson said, "racial problems will persist, not only in Alabama, and not only in the South. But for this to happen in a city where group feelings have been inflamed suggests, I think, that men of reason and good will can prevail in all parts of our country. There could be no more encouraging fact."

The President's statement, issued Tuesday by the White House, was made at a Cabinet meeting. In it, he noted Congress is returning after an Easter recess and said he hopes it "will now continue its excellent display of deliberation with speed and enact the voting rights bill without delay."

NEW YORK (AP) — United Nations Secretary-General U Thant said today he believes the whole trend of international relations in 1965 will be affected by developments in Viet Nam, and by the ability of the parties involved "to find some basis for mutual accommodation, if not for a permanent settlement."

In an address to the annual convention of the American Newspaper Publishers Association, Thant said:

Prices Drop

NEW YORK (AP) — The stock market declined fairly sharply early this afternoon. Trading was active.

Changes of some key issues ran to around a point.

Texas Gulf Sulphur continued to lose ground in the wake of a Securities and Exchange Commission suit charging its officers and directors profited from advance knowledge of a big Canadian ore discovery. It opened with a loss of a point which later widened to 3.

The Associated Press average of 60 stocks at noon was down 1.0 to 338.0 with industrials off 1.6, rails unchanged and utilities off .9.

The Dow Jones average of 30 industrials at noon was off 3.85 to 908.11.

Minor Injuries Listed in Mishap

An Ashville man escaped serious injury yesterday evening in a mishap that occurred after he lost control of his auto on Route 23 near the intersection of Route 752.

Richard Noggle, 21, was taken to Mercy Hospital, Columbus, where he received treatment for cuts of the left leg and left side of his face. He was later released.

State patrolmen said Noggle was heading south on Route 23, at about 9:15 p. m., when the accident occurred. His auto went into the median, traveled about 390 feet, skidded across the highway and off the road and into the ditch on the right side.

A utility pole was "clipped off" before the vehicle came to a halt, patrolmen said.

No citation has been issued at noon today, but patrolmen were still investigating the accident.

Muny Court Fines Seven Motorists

Disposition of seven traffic violations were made in Circleville Municipal Court today according to the court's daily docket.

Forfeiting $29 bonds for exceeding the speed limit by 10 miles per hour were Ida Louise Plummer, 48, New Boston, and Thomas A. Shafer, 22, Columbus.

Andrew M. Henry, 53, Delaware, was fined $15 and costs for failing to have a new auto registration.

Henry Clay Greene, 42, Grove City; George W. Linderme, Bloomfield Hills, Mich.; and Louel Jamison, Ecorse, Mich.; each was fined $10 and costs for speeding 70 miles per hour in a 60 mile zone.

Bruce Wilson, 22, Columbus, paid a $10 fine for operating a vehicle without a muffler.

XB70A Hits 1500 Mph. At 59,000 Altitude

EDWARDS AIR FORCE BASE, Calif. (AP) — The giant XB70A experimental bomber reached 59,000-foot altitude and 1,500-mile-an-hour speed Tuesday on its highest and fastest flight to date.

The craft is designed for a top speed of 2,000 miles an hour and more than 70,000 feet altitude.

Councilman . .

Councilman John Jenkins reported that he has received several complaints on the skate board "fad" that is now popular with the younger set. Property owners contend the boards make for hazardous walking and that they are hard on sidewalks.

The possibility of drafting an ordinance limiting use of the skate boards was discussed, although no definite action was taken. Solon David Crawford described the boards on wheels as "a currently popular fad that might soon diminish."

One of several communications read concerned an application by Palm's Salvage, Inc. for a carry-out permit. The request was filed with the State Department of Liquor Control.

THE APPLICATION is for the firm's new location on N. Court St., formerly the site of Kippy-Kit here. The request has been referred to local authorities by the state office for possible objections or remarks.

Objections, if any, must be submitted to the Board of Liquor Control. Police Chief Robert Temple said there have been no complaints to date. The location is in a commercial area.

In the way of non-legislative matters, the lawmakers agreed to accept a section of northend street that previously had not been dedicated to the city due to an oversight.

The request was made by attorney J. W. Adkins, representing a property owner in the area who desires to sell his home. The street is known as Lynwood Court.

Adkins said the Central Development Co. of Columbus, developer of the area, has agreed to deed the land involved to the city, providing Council was willing to accept.

The immediate site, involving four properties, has been utilized as a street since 1954. Adkins said the city's acceptance would be at no expense, other than maintenance that already has been provided on a routine basis.

Station Entry Probed Here

Pickaway County Sheriff's Department today investigated a burglary at a service station at Routes 316 and 104.

Deputy John Wolford said the intruders gained entry by removing a rear door that had been temporarily installed following tornado damage a week ago Sunday.

Operator of the service station is Mrs. Edith Hart. She told Deputy Wolford an inventory would have to be completed to determine what was taken.

She did note, however, that several cartons of cigarettes were missing.

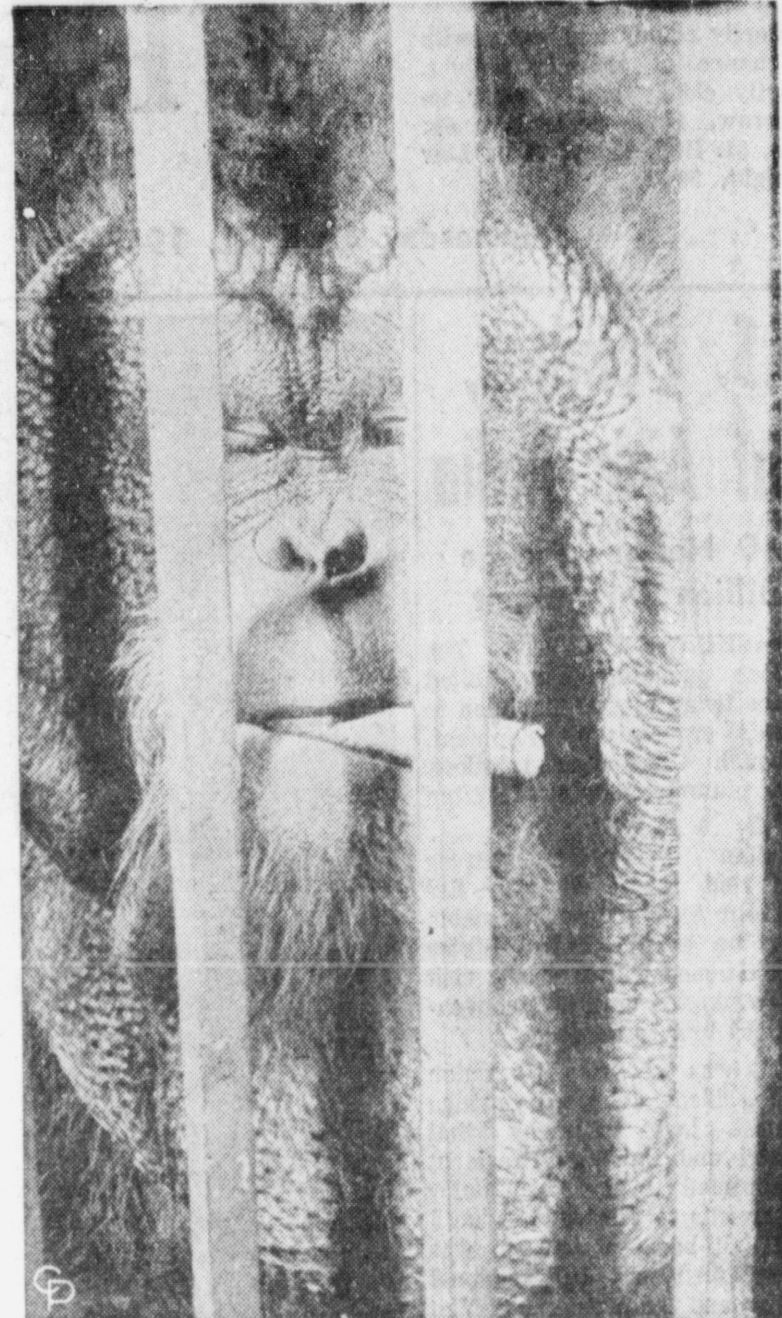

Biggest Big Top To House Circus

HOUSTON, Tex. (AP) — They're going to bring the circus to the biggest big top yet, Houston's new domed stadium.

To get here the Ringling Bros. and Barnum & Bailey Circus will make the longest detour in its 95-year history.

Wolcott Fenner, vice president and director of promotions, said Tuesday the show will travel from Toronto to Houston and then double back to Chicago after six performances June 10-13.

He said the stadium's 50,000 seats for a circus crowd would compensate for the added mileage.

Modern-Day Geography More Than Map-Making

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Geographers are charting a new course through science.

Today's geographer is no dusty map maker cloistered with his globe. Instead, he may be the man who advised a supermarket chain where to put the store where you buy your groceries.

Papers presented at the annual convention here of the Association of American Geographers cover such pedantic territory as "a Study of Transverse Crevasse in the Upper Kaskawulsh Glacier, Yukon Territory."

But they also range over the problems of Appalachia, map-making as a retail marketing tool, development of space exploration and even a discussion of "geographical approaches to peace."

In a day when traditional boundaries of scientific endeavor are melting—so that a physicist may work in chemistry or medicine—geographers feel they are coming into their own.

Geography might almost be termed a field which skims scientific specialties to become a new specialty, said Richard Silverman, an assistant professor of geography at Ohio State University and a host for the gathering of 1,250 geographers.

He defines geography as "the study of space and how man utilizes it."

Barth J. Epstein, a geographer for a rubber company, calls it "a spatial or area relationship" and says that the common denominator of all geographers—whether college teachers or supermarket site pickers—"is the spatial aspect."

Another college teacher, Bob Kates of Clark University in Worcester, Mass., agrees geography is a science of "man in space...the interplay between man and nature."

This, the geographers say,

The Left in America is a paper tiger. It has huffed and puffed in recent weeks, but simply because Lyndon Johnson hasn't backed away in South Vietnam its empty pretensions to muscle have been exposed for all to see — provided, of course, they have eyes.

The fact that the President hasn't folded must be causing a great gnashing of teeth in Moscow, in Peking, in Hanoi, and among the brethren in the United States who set in motion the contagions that result in those newspaper "peace" advertisements calling upon LBJ to get out of Vietnam lest he be mistaken for Barry Goldwater. True enough, Johnson has said he is willing to confer with anybody, any time. But he has also said he won't let the South Vietnamese be taken over by phony neutrals — and this is what the Left paper tiger can't blow out of the way.

The Left is a paper tiger in America because it is all "front" and no real substance. Those "peace" ads and letters look very impressive when they string out long names of signers to back up their sophistical paragraphs. But just whom and what do they represent? A hundred and fifty members of the Yale University faculty got up a pseudo-moralistic missive the other day to send to Lyndon Johnson, and I was appalled when I read it. But when I asked Professor David Rowe, Yale's most knowledgeable Far Eastern expert, about it, he said, "Don't be misled. The university has a thousand professors, eight hundred of whom failed to sign it, either because they disagreed with it or weren't interested. This means that less than one-fifth of the faculty is duped by the boys." And Professor Rowe went on to tell me about an undergraduate group which circulated its own petition to the President to stay in South Vietnam. In a single day this group collected a thousand undergraduate names — which is evidence that the one hundred and fifty "peace"-mongering professors can hardly say they represent the "community of scholars" at Yale.

The Left in America has sounded big because it knows how to command access to white space and how to turn out its demonstrators at short notice. But its techniques are threadbare leftovers from the Nineteen Thirties when the idea of using "innocent fronts" and "transmission belts" had its first big efflorescence. The phony front and the hoked-up demonstration at the UN worked to get Tshombe out of Katanga, and the use of dishonest scholarship endorsed by supposedly "objective" foundations had a lot to do with collapse of U. S. policy in China and Indonesia. But the oldhipper-dipper stuff hasn't worked this time, and if Lyndon Johnson keeps his nerve it will never, never work again.

This exposure of the paperish quality of the Leftist tiger has not been due to the cleverness or persistence of the non-Communists among us, or even to the brave but relatively ineffective sniping of the anti-Communists. What has happened has resulted from a combination of two things, stupidity on the part of our enemies and the instinct of a Texas politician for the realities of power.

The first stupid error on the part of our opponents was Sukarno's, when he threatened last year to invade Malaysia. This forced the British to move 50,000 soldiers to the Far East. Up to that time no good Labor Party politician in Britain would have had a kind word to say for a stick-to-it American policy in Vietnam. But the prospect of a Communist South Vietnam at the back of 50,000 British troops in Singapore caused the British Labor Prime Minister Harold Wilson to do a double-take on Southeast Asia — and a shaky Anglo-American alliance was reconstituted thereby.

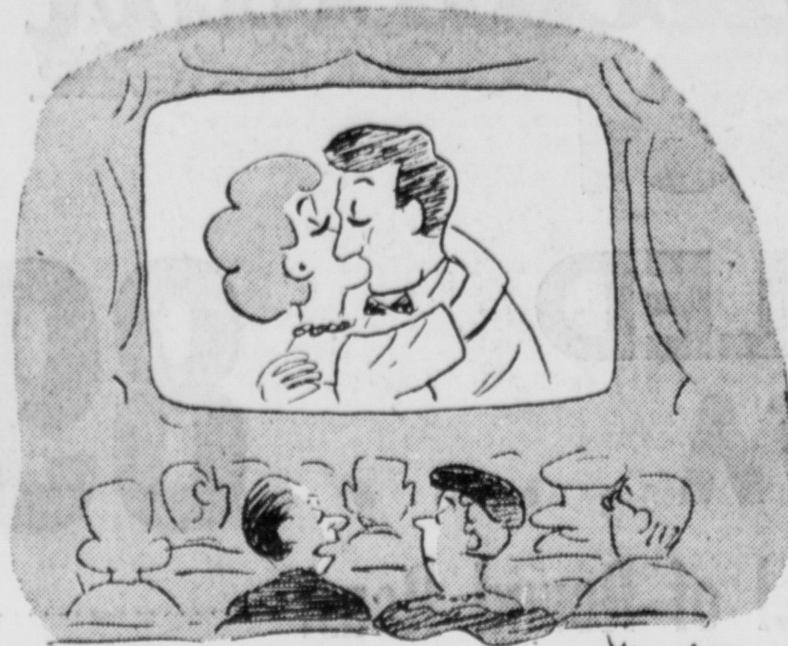

The second mistake made by our opponents was to suppose that the new back-to-back position of the U. S. and Britain in Asia made no difference. But it certainly did make a difference to the man in power in the White House. With back-to-back aces, what Texan would drop his cards? Especially when dropping them would result in the collapse not merely of South Vietnam, but also of Thailand, Burma, India — and, in the long future, Australia and much of Africa?

So let the Leftist paper tiger wall. This is one tiger we don't want in our tank.

LAFF-A-DAY

"Now, that's what I call ACTING. They're married in real life, you know."

Try and Stop Me

By BENNETT CERF

A SWEET OLD LADY sat next to a stalwart collegian on a bus, and noting a large bump on his forehead, inquired, "Are you on the football team?" "No, ma'am," he replied. "I'm in the glee club." Then how come the bump, she wanted to know. "Our director doesn't kid around," explained the song bird. "When he announced we'd rehearse the Anvil Chorus, and nobody could find anvils, he just handed us hammers and told us to carry on."

A distinguished English professor at Dartmouth still pales at memory of the day he delivered the valedictory at graduation ceremonies of his elementary school class. He was SUPPOSED to declaim, "As I scan the dim horizon." What came out, however, was, "As I skim the damn horizon." He got no further with his speech.

There's an old stick-in-the-mud up at Rowayton, Conn., who won't have anything to do with those new stainless steel blades. "When I shave," he declares adamantly, "I use the good old way: an electric razor!"

ONCE ONLY CONVULSION

Q. If a child has one convulsion, what are the chances of his having another? Does one seizure indicate epilepsy?

A. Anyone, child or adult, who has a seizure should be examined by a physician. If no specific cause can be found for the seizure (head injury, high fever, etc.), most doctors assume that the patient has "epilepsy." Some authorities suggest that the single-seizure child be given appropriate medication for a period of four years. Drug treatment is then tapered off over a period of one or two years. This is done to prevent possible recurrence and to help overcome the fear of a second seizure. In many cases, continued treatment is not necessary. The diagnosis of epilepsy is not considered in a young child who has a short seizure associated with high fever. Single febrile (fever) seizures usually do not occur after four or five years of age.

WINE AS MEDICINE

Q. Does wine have any medicinal properties?

A. Some people seem to think so. During the past 4000 years wine has at various times been considered a sedative, an antiseptic, a food, a mouthwash, a tonic and a diuretic. In 1910 the famous Dr. Pavlov advanced the idea that wine stimulates the appetite. Wine has alternately been included in and excluded from "official" lists of drugs and medicines for hundreds of years. So has whiskey. Obviously, neither is a cure-all.

The Business World

By CHARLES WEST

NEW YORK (AP) — Lest it be overlooked in the rush of world events, this Easter season is the 15th anniversary of the introduction of a chemical curiosity that has bounced its way around the globe.

It was discovered as a by-product of the government's effort to create synthetic rubber during World War II. And it was useless — useless, that is, until a flat-broke advertising and marketing specialist came across it.

The specialist, Peter Hodgson, 48, named it Silly Putty. He is no longer flat broke.

Hodgson made the pink substance into a multimillion-dollar adult toy which soon found its best market among children.

Silly Putty came into being in 1944. James Wright, an engineer working in General Electric's New Haven, Conn., laboratory, tossed a handful of boric acid into some silicone oil, a liquid refined from sand. The gooey result bounced when he tossed it on the floor, but failed as a substitute for rubber.

Nevertheless, it remained around for years, a conversation piece and plaything for Wright's friends and professional colleagues, mainly for its seemingly contradictory qualities.

It can be stretched or molded; balled up, it will bounce; struck suddenly with a hammer, it will shatter; flattened out, it will pick up pictures from a comic book; left alone, it will flow slower than molasses into a tired puddle.

Hodgson, born in Montreal, and raised in Norfolk, Va., had been a seaman, advertising copy writer, marketing consultant, wartime railroad troop traffic manager and magazine research director. But he was broke and jobless when he found his gold mine.

Working in a basement with a Yale student as a helper, Hodgson had to borrow $147.50 to pay for the first shipment of the substance. He put small amounts of silly putty into toy plastic eggs retailing for $1 and got them onto the national market.

Within six months, 30 Yale students were helping Hodgson crate the orders and he was counting a clear profit of $10,000.

Now 125 employees help him in a $6-million annual business. In addition to the New Haven plant, there is a subsidiary operation in Canada. He is negotiating to open others this year in Japan and West Germany and just received an inquiry about a possible plant in Mexico.

And the once flat-broke advertising man relaxes on an 88-acre hilltop at Madison, Conn., with a swimming pool, tennis court and an old farm house 400 feet above the Long Island Sound boasting a view stretching almost from Orient Point to Oyster Bay.

"I can trace most everything I have to silly putty," said Hodgson, pleased.

Speaking of YOUR HEALTH...

By LESTER L. COLEMAN, M.D.

When a specimen is removed from the body for study, why does it take so long for a report?

Study of a specimen, or biopsy study, is not a simple procedure. The tissue must first be prepared and then implanted in a cube of paraffin. After this hardens, the tissue is cut into the thinnest possible slivers. Finally, the tissue is stained and studied and interpreted under the microscope.

By another but less satisfactory technique, a report on tissue can be obtained in minutes while a patient is still in the operating room.

The anxiety of patients for the earliest possible report is understandable. For this reason every combined effort is made to facilitate it.

Is the basal metabolism test the only one used for thyroid diseases?

The basal metabolic rate, known as BMR, is still used, though less frequently than before, to study the activity of the thyroid gland.

There are now other tests that supply the information more readily and with greater accuracy.

The Protein-Bound Iodine test is performed on a sample of blood.

Another safe test is done by giving the patient a small quantity of radio-active iodine. With a Geiger counter, the thyroid activity can be determined.

Why are patients taken to a special recovery room after an operation?

The recovery room is rapidly becoming an absolute requirement in every good hospital.

When a general anesthesia is given to a patient, it is most important that highly trained personnel be present until that patient returns to complete consciousness.

The time spent in the recovery room is an important part of the operation.

The recovery room is staffed and equipped with every kind of device for routine or emergency needs.

Can a child have a convulsion that is caused by high fever? Severe infections of the tonsils with high fever can produce convulsions in children. Usually these convulsions are not of any lasting importance, distressing as they may be to parents.

Yet it is imperative that even a single convulsion be completely investigated to eliminate other possible causes.

NEW YORK (AP)—Jumping to conclusions:

It may be true that women with small bosoms generally have a higher I.Q., as Dr. Erwin O. Strassmann of Houston, Tex., reported in a medical journal. But typists with large bosoms must be better spellers. Why else would so many business executives prefer to hire them? Most shoplifters are lazy, selfish women. The articles they purloin are for themselves or items they can convert into cash. They rarely steal things for their children or to give to their boy friends.

Our myth-buggers cling to the tradition that baseball is still the national pastime. Actually, the game today probably bores more people than it pleases. The only thing about professional baseball that remains intact is the flavor of the mustard they put on the hog dogs.

No matter how wide business prosperity spreads, eight out of 10 businessmen over 40 still keep a bottle of aspirin in their desks. Money makes headaches.

Guys who can blow smoke rings well rarely amount to much in life. The time they waste on learning such parlor tricks keeps them from climbing very far up the success ladder.

A good safecracker usually is a more interesting conversationalist than the presidents of the banks he robs.

A woman always feels best

Fashion models never order anything so crass as corn on the cob in a restaurant. They feel it would destroy their image of dainty fastidiousness. But many of them are binge eaters, and in the privacy of their apartment cook meals for themselves that would fella a longshoreman or give insomnia to an anaconda.

Modern novels are so naughty nowadays that about the only place left where a fellow can still find decent fiction is on the tombstones of old-fashioned cemeteries.

The equal rights movement in America will never be a

By John Chamberlain

The Left in America is a paper tiger. It has huffed and puffed in recent weeks, but simply because Lyndon Johnson hasn't backed away in South Vietnam its empty pretensions to muscle have been exposed for all to see — provided, of course, they have eyes.

The fact that the President hasn't folded must be causing a great gnashing of teeth in Moscow, in Peking, in Hanoi, and among the brethren in the United States who set in motion the contagions that result in those newspaper "peace" advertisements calling upon LBJ to get out of Vietnam lest he be mistaken for Barry Goldwater. True enough, Johnson has said he is willing to confer with anybody, any time. But he has also said he won't let the South Vietnamese be taken over by phony neutrals — and this is what the Left paper tiger can't blow out of the way.

The Left is a paper tiger in America because it is all "front" and no real substance. Those "peace" ads and letters look very impressive when they string out long names of signers to back up their sophistical paragraphs. But just whom and what do they represent? A hundred and fifty members of the Yale University faculty got up a pseudo-moralistic missive the other day to send to Lyndon Johnson, and I was appalled when I read it. But when I asked Professor David Rowe, Yale's most knowledgeable Far Eastern expert, about it, he said, "Don't be misled. The university has a thousand professors, eight hundred of whom failed to sign it, either because they disagreed with it or weren't interested. This means that less than one-fifth of the faculty is duped by the boys." And Professor Rowe went on to tell me about an undergraduate group which circulated its own petition to the President to stay in South Vietnam. In a single day this group collected a thousand undergraduate names — which is evidence that the one hundred and fifty "peace"-mongering professors can hardly say they represent the "community of scholars" at Yale.

The Left in America has sounded big because it knows how to command access to white space and how to turn out its demonstrators at short notice. But its techniques are threadbare leftovers from the Nineteen Thirties when the idea of using "innocent fronts" and "transmission belts" had its first big efflorescence. The phony front and the hoked-up demonstration at the UN worked to get Tshombe out of Katanga, and the use of dishonest scholarship endorsed by supposedly "objective" foundations had a lot to do with collapse of U. S. policy in China and Indonesia. But the old hippie-dipper stuff hasn't worked this time, and if Lyndon Johnson keeps his nerve it will never, never work again.

This exposure of the paperish quality of the Leftist tiger has not been due to the cleverness or persistence of the non-Communists among us, or even to the brave but relatively ineffective sniping of the anti-Communists. What has happened has resulted from a combination of two things, stupidity on the part of our enemies and the instinct of a Texas politician for the realities of power.

The first stupid error on the part of our opponents was Sukarno's, when he threatened last year to invade Malaysia. This forced the British to move 50,000 soldiers to the Far East. Up to that time no good Labor Party politician in Britain would have had a kind word to say for a stick-to-it American policy in Vietnam. But the prospect of a Communist South Vietnam at the back of 50,000 British troops in Singapore caused the British Labor Prime Minister Harold Wilson to do a double-take on Southeast Asia — and a shaky Anglo-American alliance was reconstituted thereby.

The second mistake made by our opponents was to suppose that the new back-to-back position of the U. S. and Britain in Asia made no difference. But it certainly did make a difference to the man in power in the White House. With back-to-back aces, what Texan would drop his cards? Especially when dropping them would result in the collapse not merely of South Vietnam, but also of Thailand, Burma, India — and, in the long future, Australia and much of Africa?

So let the Leftist paper tiger wail. This is one tiger we don't want in our tank.

Try and Stop Me

By BENNETT CERF

A SWEET OLD LADY sat next to a stalwart collegian on a bus, and noting a large bump on his forehead, inquired, "Are you on the football team?" "No, ma'am," he replied. "I'm in the glee club." Then how come the bump, she wanted to know. "Our director doesn't kid around," explained the song bird. "When he announced we'd rehearse the Anvil Chorus, and nobody could find anvils, he just handed us hammers and told us to carry on."

A distinguished English professor at Dartmouth still pales at memory of the day he delivered the valedictory at graduation ceremonies of his elementary school class. He was SUPPOSED to declaim, "As I scan the dim horizon." What came out, however, was, "As I skim the damn horizon." He got no further with his speech.

There's an old stick-in-the-mud up at Rowayton, Conn., who won't have anything to do with those new stainless steel blades. "When I shave," he declares adamantly, "I use the good old way: an electric razor!"

Q. If a child has one convulsion, what are the chances of his having another? Does one seizure indicate epilepsy?

A. Anyone, child or adult, who has a seizure should be examined by a physician. If no specific cause can be found for the seizure (head injury, high fever, etc.), most doctors assume that the patient has "epilepsy." Some authorities suggest that the single-seizure child be given appropriate medication for a period of four years. Drug treatment is then tapered off over a period of one or two years. This is done to prevent possible recurrence and to help overcome the fear of a second seizure. In many cases, continued treatment is not necessary. The diagnosis of epilepsy is not considered in a young child who has a short seizure associated with high fever. Single febrile (fever) seizures usually do not occur after four or five years of age.

WINE AS MEDICINE

Q. Does wine have any medicinal properties?

A. Some people seem to think so. During the past 4000 years wine has at various times been considered a sedative, an antiseptic, a food, a mouthwash, a tonic and a diuretic. In 1910 the famous Dr. Pavlov advanced the idea that wine stimulates the appetite. Wine has alternately been included in and excluded from "official" lists of drugs and medicines for hundreds of years. So has whiskey. Obviously, neither is a cureall.

SHOT DOWN — Standing aboard the USS Coral Sea off the Vietnamese coast, U.S. Navy Lt. Cmdr. William N. Donnelly said he considers himself one of the luckiest men alive. Donnelly, 40, of La Jolla, Calif., told newsmen how he was shot down by Communist Viet Cong anti-aircraft fire and cast adrift for two days in the Gulf of Tonkin before being picked up. He said his emergency radio was defective, his raft had a hole in it, he had no food or water and his signal flare misfired, sinking the raft. He said he retrieved the raft and kept afloat by blowing it up by mouth every 45 minutes.

JUMPED THE GUN
DEAR ABBY: Tell your mother that you have a date with the stork - and waiting until September is for the birds.

DEAR ABBY: Can you find me a good, true woman? I am a retired Merchant Marine officer who has been everywhere and seen everything. I am tired of knocking around. I am pushing 60, but nobody takes me for any older than 45, or 50, tops. I have a nice little savings account and a pension for life. Never having been an angel myself, I wouldn't expect one, but I would like a healthy, good-looking woman who wants to settle down with one man from now on. I am partial to plump girls. I speak both Italian and Spanish. If you will send me an address, I'll go anywhere.

SLIM
DEAR SLIM: Don't start packing until you've taken a good look in your own back yard. Just let a few friends know that you are interested in meeting a good woman who wants to settle down, and you'll need police protection.

DEAR ABBY: I am the proud father of a big, handsome college freshman. When this kid comes home for weekend vacations, he helps himself to my neckties. Now I wouldn't mind so much if he returned my ties in the same condition that he finds them. But he knots them peculiarly and the tie is a lifeless rag by the time he's worn it once. He has more ties than I have, but he wears mine because he says he likes my "taste." I suppose I should be flattered and, in a way, I am. But how would YOU solve this PROBLEM, Abby?

POOR DAD
DEAR DAD: What you need is stronger family ties. And buy enough for both of you!

TODAY In History

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
Today is Wednesday, April 21, the 111th day of 1965. There are 254 days left in the year.

Today's highlight in history: On this date in 1836, Gen. Sam Houston and his Texans defeated and captured Mexican Gen. Santa Anna on the San Jacinto River near Galveston. Santa Anna suffered heavy losses and signed an armistice providing for the withdrawal of all Mexican forces from Texas.

On this date
In 1649, the Maryland General Assembly enacted the first law for freedom of worship in the colonies.

In 1831, the Black Hawk War started in Illinois, against the Sauk chief of that name. Young Abraham Lincoln served as a volunteer.

In 1898, the War with Spain began, although the formal declaration fixing the date was not issued until April 25.

In 1910, author and humorist Mark Twain died.

In 1926, Queen Elizabeth II was born.

Ten years ago—Britain's new prime minister, Sir Anthony Eden, was elected leader of the Conservative party.

Five years ago — Democratic presidential candidate John F. Kennedy and Hubert Humphrey attacked the issue of religion in politics in Washington speeches.

One year ago — President Johnson called for a peaceful revolution in the lives of poverty-stricken people of the world.

226 Ohio Cities Slated To Go on Daylight Time

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — That time of the year when Ohioans are beset by confusion and clocks rolls around this weekend.

At midnight Saturday, the clock will be moved ahead one hour in thousands of homes in northeastern and eastern counties of the state, signalling the start of daylight savings time.

In Ohio, 226 cities and communities in all or part of 21 counties are affected by the change. The rest of the state stays on eastern standard time, giving Ohio a patchwork of time zones as one crosses the state, north to south.

Most of the points switching to daylight, or fast time, return to standard time Sunday, Oct. 31. In some communities, daylight savings will be in effect until Sept. 26.

The Ohio Chamber of Commerce, which annually surveys the communities adopting daylight savings time, describes the affected area this way:

North of a line which begins just west of Vermilion on Lake Erie and then runs south and eastward, west of Wellington in Lorain County, east of Ashland, south of Wooster and then southeastward, crossing the northern part of Tuscarawas County, north of New Philadelphia, and then south along the west boundaries of Harrison, Belmont and Monroe counties, and then includes Washington County to a point just west of Belpre to the Ohio River. Dear Abby: By Abigail Van Buren

'Fess Up Now!

DEAR ABBY: Talk about a mess. This is the worst. My boy friend and I eloped during the semester break and were married by a Justice of the Peace. We told our parents about it and they said we shouldn't tell anybody. They want us to announce our "engagement" as soon as school is out in June, and then they'll give us a big church wedding in September. Well, as luck would have it, I think I am pregnant. I can't wait until September for a big fancy wedding for obvious reason. I hate to disappoint my mother, but I think I ought to tell her. But how?

JUMPED THE GUN
DEAR ABBY: Tell your mother that you have a date with the stork and waiting until September is for the birds.

DEAR ABBY: Can you find me a good, true woman? I am a retired Merchant Marine officer who has been everywhere and seen everything. I am tired of knocking around. I am pushing 60, but nobody takes me for any older than 45, or 50, tops. I have a nice little savings account and a pension for life. Never having been an angel myself, I wouldn't expect one, but I would like a healthy, good-looking woman who wants to settle down with one man from now on. I am partial to plump girls. I speak both Italian and Spanish. If you will send me an address, I'll go anywhere.

SLIM
DEAR SLIM: Don't start packing until you've taken a good look in your own back yard. Just let a few friends know that you are interested in meeting a good woman who wants to settle down, and you'll need police protection.

DEAR ABBY: I am the proud father of a big, handsome college freshman. When this kid comes home for weekend vacations, he helps himself to my neckties. Now I wouldn't mind so much if he returned my ties in the same condition that he finds them. But he knots them peculiarly and the tie is a lifeless rag by the time he's worn it once. He has more ties than I have, but he wears mine because he says he likes my "taste." I suppose I should be flattered and, in a way, I am. But how would YOU solve this PROBLEM, Abby?

POOR DAD
DEAR DAD: What you need is stronger family ties. And buy enough for both of you!

CONFIDENTIAL TO GREEN GRASS WIDOW IN THE BLUE GRASS COUNTRY: Envy is the mother of gossip. And malice is the father. (Edgar Allan Poe)

TODAY In History

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Today is Wednesday, April 21, the 111th day of 1965. There are 254 days left in the year.

Today's highlight in history: On this date in 1836, Gen. Sam Houston and his Texans defeated and captured Mexican Gen. Santa Anna on the San Jacinto River near Galveston. Santa Anna suffered heavy losses and signed an armistice providing for the withdrawal of all Mexican forces from Texas.

On this date in 1649, the Maryland General Assembly enacted the first law for freedom of worship in the colonies.

In 1831, the Black Hawk War started in Illinois, against the Sauk chief of that name. Young Abraham Lincoln served as a volunteer.

In 1898, the War with Spain began, although the formal declaration fixing the date was not issued until April 25.

In 1910, author and humorist Mark Twain died.

In 1926, Queen Elizabeth II was born.

Ten years ago—Britain's new prime minister, Sir Anthony Eden, was elected leader of the Conservative party.

Five years ago—Democratic presidential candidate John F. Kennedy and Hubert Humphrey attacked the issue of religion in politics in Washington speeches.

One year ago—President Johnson called for a peaceful revolution in the lives of poverty-stricken people of the world.

226 Ohio Cities Slated To Go on Daylight Time

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — That time of the year when Ohioans are beset by confusion and clocks rolls around this weekend.

At midnight Saturday, the clock will be moved ahead one hour in thousands of homes in northeastern and eastern counties of the state, signalling the start of daylight savings time.

In Ohio, 226 cities and communities in all or part of 21 counties are affected by the change. The rest of the state stays on eastern standard time, giving Ohio a patchwork of time zones as one crosses the state, north to south.

Most of the points switching to daylight, or fast time, return to standard time Sunday, Oct. 31. In some communities, daylight savings will be in effect until Sept. 26.

The Ohio Chamber of Commerce, which annually surveys the communities adopting daylight savings time, describes the affected area this way:

North of a line which begins just west of Vermilion on Lake Erie and then runs south and eastward, west of Wellington in Lorain County, east of Ashland, south of Wooster and then southeastward, crossing the northern part of Tuscarawas County, north of New Philadelphia, and then south along the west boundaries of Harrison, Belmont and Monroe counties, and then includes Washington County to a point just west of Belpre to the Ohio River. District's Response Heavy To Harsha Questionnaire

More than 20,000 replies have been received on a public opinion questionnaire submitted to voters in the 6th Ohio Congressional District by Rep. William H. Harsha.

Results of the opinion poll were released today by Congressman Harsha. The questionnaire concerns important issues now before Congress, including federal aid to education, hospital care for the elderly, the U. S. policy in Viet Nam and the government program relative to price supports, acreage allotments and marketing quotas.

Harsha said he is extremely gratified by the public response to his annual opinion poll. He said the questionnaire was given a general mailing, and that the results reflect a true cross-section of views of those participating.

This year Harsha inaugurated the use of a pre-punched card which allowed the utilization of an electronic computer in tabulating results. He said replies still coming to his office will be tabulated as they are received.

THE OHIO solon said the questionnaire stimulated a great number of letters from persons who wished to qualify their answers beyond the "yes" or "no" required by the computer card. He said he appreciated the more detailed views.

Here are the questions and results:

1. Do you favor a $1.3 billion program of federal aid to elementary and secondary schools which would include specific help to low income areas for both construction and teacher's salaries, provision to loan library materials and books to private and public schools, grants for educational centers and model school programs, regional centers of research, and the establishment of a new Dept. of Education: Yes — 39.9 per cent; No — 50.5 per cent; No Opinion — 9.6 per cent.

2. Do you favor hospital and nursing home care for those over 65: (a) Financed by added social security taxes under a compulsory system? 18.0 per cent; (b) Financed out of general tax revenues by subsidizing purchase of private health insurance for those unable to pay the necessary premiums, and through tax credits? 23.9 per cent; (c) Expansion of existing Federal - State programs to aid those in need? 23.4 per cent; (d) No additional Federal involvement in this field: 33.5 per cent; No opinion, .2 per cent.

3. Regarding our policy in Viet Nam, do you favor: (a) Increasing our military effort? 56.4 per cent; (b) Continuing our present holding action? 18.9 per cent; (c) Withdrawing our military forces? 18.3 per cent; No opinion, 6.4 per cent.

4. Are you in favor of continuing the present program in regard to price supports, acreage allotment and marketing quotas on a limited number of crops? Yes — 32.7 per cent;

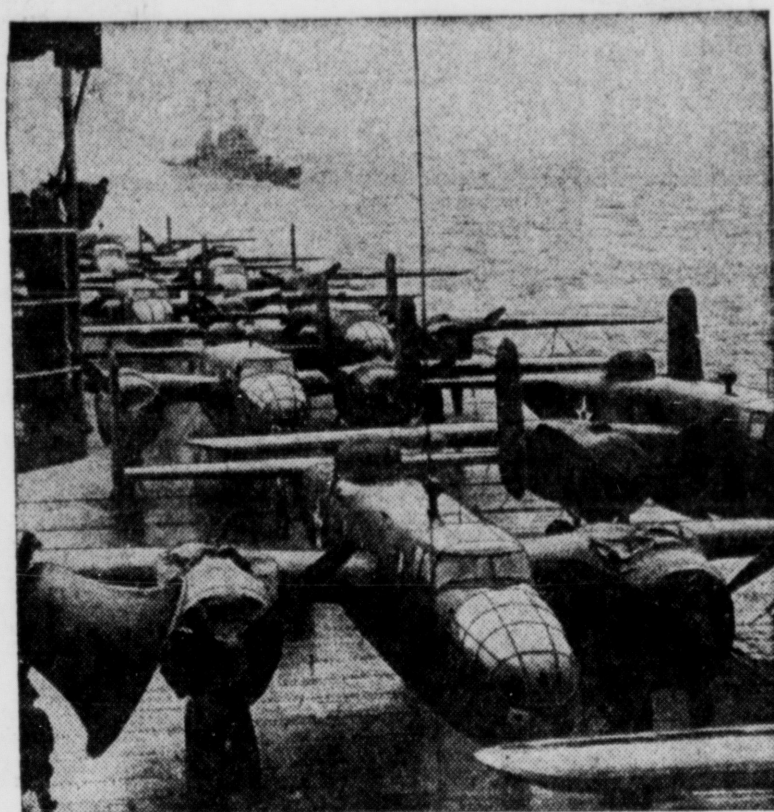

No — 57.5 per cent; No opinion — 9.8 per cent.

5. Do you favor the gradual withdrawal by the government from acreage restrictions for farmers? Yes — 72.4 per cent; No — 19.2 per cent; No opinion — 8.4 per cent.

6. Do you favor eliminating Section 14b of the Taft-Hartley Act which permits states to decide whether or not they may enact right to work laws? Yes — 25.5 per cent; No — 66.0 per cent; No opinion — 8.5 per cent.

7. Should the wartime imposed federal excise taxes on such items as cosmetics, luggage, handbags, jewelry and telephone service be abolished? Yes — 68.6 per cent; No — 28.0 per cent; No opinion — 3.4 per cent.

8. Do you favor an expanded immigration program abolishing the national origin quota system now in existence? Yes — 15.6 per cent; No — 77.9 per cent; No opinion — 6.5 per cent.

Doolittle today

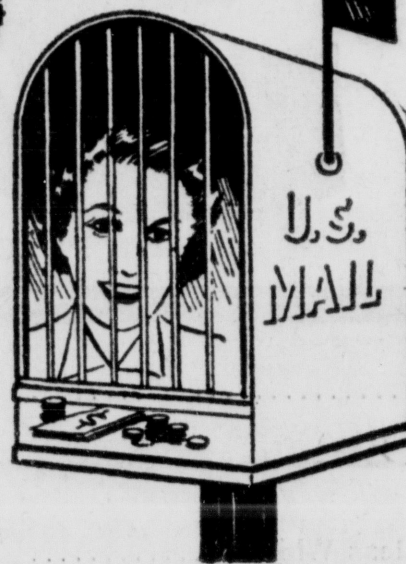

23 YEARS AGO on April 18 one of World War II's most daring feats occurred, the Doolittle bomber raid on Tokyo, Yokohama, Nagoya and Kobe. Here (upper) are the 16 B25 bombers on deck of the carrier Hornet, ready to take off 800 miles from Japan—to let the Japanese people know it could and would happen. Jimmy Doolittle wound up crash landing in China. He is shown (below) sitting near broken wing of his bomber. Eighty men took part. Eight were captured, three executed. All but one of the 16 bombers crashed. That one landed in Soviet territory and the crew was interned for 13 months.

126 OSU Profs Oppose Issue 3

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — A large bloc of the Ohio State University faculty today has taken a stand against Issue 3 which will be on the May ballot.

A paid advertisement in the Ohio State University Lantern, was signed by 126 faculty members, representing a "Committee for the Study of Alternatives" opposed to passage of the issue. The advertisement asserted the issue "is based in part on gerrymandered congressional districts; it permits the gerrymandering of representative districts. . . (and) it allows the creation of constituencies of unequal size."

A smorgasbord dinner will be held May 2, at the Derby Church.

Serving time will be from noon until 2:30 p. m.

126 OSU Profs

Oppose Issue 3

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — A large bloc of the Ohio State University faculty today has taken a stand against Issue 3 which will be on the May ballot.

A paid advertisement in the Ohio State University Lantern, was signed by 126 faculty members, representing a "Committee for the Study of Alternatives" opposed to passage of the issue. The advertisement asserted the issue "is based in part on gerrymandered congressional districts; it permits the gerrymandering of representative districts. . . (and) it allows the creation of constituencies of unequal size."

Sale of B-L-H Corp.

To Armour Gets Nod

NEW YORK (AP)—Armour & Co. will purchase Baldwin-Lima-Hamilton Corp., the boards of the two companies announced Tuesday.

The agreement will be submitted to shareholders of each company for approval. Baldwin-Lima-Hamilton, which has a plant at Lima, Ohio, manufactures heavy industrial machinery.

Dem Leader Asks Rhodes For Parley

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Senate Democratic Leader Frank W. King of Toledo has called on Gov. James A. Rhodes for a meeting to draw up a bipartisan legislative program.

King released contents of a telegram he sent to the GOP governor at a testimonial dinner Tuesday night in King's honor.

More than 500 of the Democratic party faithful, including legislators and party officials, attended the dinner here, described as a tribute to King for his many years of public service.

In the telegram, King told Rhodes he is willing to meet anytime, "an hour from now or at any noon or night" to discuss matters on which the two parties can agree.

The governor could not be reached for comment.

The 106th General Assembly, now midway in its fourth month, has completed action only a handful of bills, none of any major significance. The main reason is the evenly divided Senate in which neither party can get a bill passed without at least one vote from the opposition.

Meanwhile, the House was scheduled to vote today on a worked-over measure authorizing a feasibility study of piping water from Lake Erie into North Central Ohio counties.

Rep. Howard A. Knight, R-Sandusky, authored the proposal, which was recommended for passage last week after the House Finance Committee took out a proposed $40,000 appropriation to pay for the study.

Knight and other sponsors said the committee decided funds could come from the Development Department, which would make the study in cooperation with the Ohio Water Commission.

The study would involve a proposed pipeline to carry water from Lake Erie into the Portage, Huron, Sandusky, Black River, and Vermilion River Basins, which have surface waters draining into Lake Erie.

Highway safety measures made progress in both houses of the legislature Tuesday although one passed by the Senate prompted one of the longest bipartisan debates of the session.

The measure, which now goes to the house, would require twice-a-year safety inspections for all registered vehicles in Ohio after January 1, 1967.

Motorists would pay $2 for each inspection with 20 cents of the fee returned to the state and the remainder going to private inspectors licensed by the state for $15 a year.

The House approved 124-8 a Senate-approved bill requiring seat belts in all new cars after Jan. 1, 1966. The measure now must go back to the Senate for action on an amendment taking out a penalty for failure of motorists to "buckle up."

Legislation authorizing the Health Department to phase out unneeded tuberculosis hospitals and requiring children to be six years old by Sept. 15 of the year they enter the first grade also received House approval.

Fourteen new bills were offered in the House after Speaker Roger W. Cloud, R-Logan, announced a cutoff date of April 29 for introduction of measures.

Rep. David Albritton, R-Montgomery, and others proposed that separate departments be made of the Department of Mental Hygiene and Correction

Issue 3 Is Hotly-Debated Plan For Reapportioning Ohio's House

Editor's Note: Following is the third in a series of articles explaining the four proposed constitutional amendments which will face Ohio voters on May 4.

By ROBERT E. MILLER

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Politicians who favor the simple approach have had a rough time campaigning for or against the most controversial issue on the May 4 ballot.

They've been using words like reapportionment, subdistricting, and gerrymandering to plug for passage or defeat of Issue No. 3.

What is Issue 3? Simply stated, it is a new formula for electing members of the Ohio House of Representatives devised by the legislature after the U.S. Supreme Court struck down major provisions of the present plan.

Eden Backs Johnson on Viet Policy

BOSTON (AP) — Anthony Eden, former British prime minister, says that President Johnson took the correct stand in his proposal for negotiated settlement of the Viet Nam conflict.

Eden said the President's offer on Viet Nam was "right in its terms and timing, a blend of a generous offer with a refusal to abdicate."

"I can see no possible alternative to your President's proposal," he said. Eden added that rejection by the Communists should not be taken "as their last word. Your President has made it possible for negotiations to open—no mean accomplishment for one speech."

The retired British diplomat joined U.S. N. Ambassador Adlai E. Stevenson in a forum at the ballroom of the Sheraton-Boston Hotel, part of the new Prudential Center.

Stevenson said the world faces an especially dangerous phase in the shifting relationships of the power blocs.

"We have, in fact, almost no international law," he said. "We have at best, a precarious treaty system continuously at the mercy of the shift and changes in the interests of the power blocs."

Ex-SW Ohio Educator Dies in Virginia at 64

ARLINGTON, Va. (AP) — A former Southwest Ohio educator who had been assistant superintendent of the Arlington County school system here since 1948 has died here following a heart attack.

Dr. Edward J. Braun, 64, died Tuesday. A native of Indiana, he spent his early years in Cincinnati and Hamilton, Ohio.

while Rep. Charles A. Mooney, D-Cuyahoga, offered a bill to divide his county into four new congressional districts with a mean population of 412,000.

The high court ruled that state legislatures, as well as Congress, must be made up of persons elected as nearly as possible from districts of equal population.

This ruling shattered a 62-year-old amendment to Ohio's constitution which guaranteed each of the 88 counties at least one representative in the House, regardless of population.

Ohio, faced with devising a new plan, had two alternatives. The job could be left up to the federal courts or be handed to the legislature.

Republican Gov. James A. Rhodes called the 105th General Assembly into special session last November to reapportion, or shape new legislative districts, for members of the Ohio House.

That legislature had lopsided Republican majorities in both houses, more than the three-fifths majorities required to place a reapportionment amendment on the statewide ballot.

Democrats complained vigorously that the governor was politically motivated when he handed the job to the special session following big Democratic gains in the November election.

In the election, Democrats gained an even split in the Ohio Senate and cut the Republican advantage in the 137-member House to 13 seats.

Rhodes knew, they charged, that the 106th General Assembly due to convene Jan. 3, 1965, could agree on no plan without support from both parties. The governor countered that the state was under Supreme Court order to act with "all reasonable speed" and unless action was taken, the federal courts could intervene.

With that background, the lame duck legislature drew up and approved the reapportionment plan which is scheduled to appear on the primary ballot. Democrats who fought it at every turn assert approval of the plan will enable Republicans to retain control of the legislature for "at least the next decade." This could be the case, they claim, because a Republican-controlled state reapportionment board would figure in the plan.

Here's how the plan would work: A divisor of 140 would be used to divide into Ohio's 1960 population (the last federal census) for an answer, or population ratio of 69,000. Each ratio would represent one seat in the House.

Smaller counties with a population of less than 69,000, now entitled to a seat of their own, would have to share a representative with another county or counties, or part of another county.

Larger counties, such as Cuyahoga and Hamilton which have several times the 69,000 figure, would have one seat for each ratio but an equal number would have to be elected from each Congressional District in the county. This is known as subdistricting.

In the case of odd numbers where equal distribution among the congressional districts would not be possible, the balance would be elected from the county at-large.

Say, for instance, that Cuyahoga County with its four congressional districts would be entitled to 23 representatives. Five would be elected from each congressional district and the other three from the county at-large.

What about multi-county districts? How would they be formed and by whom? That is where the state Apportionment Board comes in, the major point in Democratic arguments. They contend the board would gerrymander districts, that is, group weak Democratic areas with strong Republican areas to weaken Democratic strength.

Under Issue 3, the Apportionment Board would be increased from three members to seven with one Democrat and one Republican from each house of the legislature joining the governor, auditor, and secretary of state who now make up the board.

The first apportionment board under Issue 3 would be ruled by Republicans 5-2. The first election under issue would be the 1966 primary.

Democrats contend that even should the first apportionment "do a creditable job" the chance would still exist that 20 years from now a board of either party might decide to shape districts to its own political advantage.

The opponents of Issue 3 predict it will fail while supporters are just as confident that it will win approval.

If it fails, the legislature could try again or sit tight and leave the job to the courts.

Democrats dispute Rhodes' claim that the job must be completed as rapidly as he says. They maintain another plan could be offered in the November election without concern over federal intervention before the end of the year.

The legislature didn't have to worry about Ohio's 32-member Senate. Senatorial districts in Ohio already comply with the Supreme Court's edict, officials said.

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — Jean Leon, a personable young fellow from Bayonne, France, is what this town calls a terrific success story.

In a decade, he has progressed from busboy to the owner of one of the movie colony's favorite hangouts.

And to make a French Horatio Alger dream come true, he now owns a castle in Spain — with its own vineyards.

Jean came to the United States in 1951 and immediately was drafted into the Army where he served a two-year hitch as a secretary to a psychiatrist — good training for running a movie star restaurant.

He started in the restaurant business as a busboy at the old Villa Capri where he became a favorite of Frank Sinatra, Natalie Wood, Jackie Gleason and others who frequented the Italian restaurant. A busboy by day, Jean drove a cab at night.

Patsy D'Amore, owner of the Villa Capri, promoted Jean to waiter, then captain. His Gallic charm and friendliness soon won him a host of friends in the movie crowd.

In 1957, he had no trouble borrowing money to open La Scala in a Beverly Hills location where seven other restaurants had gone broke in 11 years.

"Our first-day receipts were $76," Jean recalls. Now La Scala and its subsidiary, La Scala Boutique, grosses a million a year.

Arthur Loew Jr., scion of the theatrical family, was his first name customer — and he has been there almost nightly since. Sinatra, David Janssen, Danny Thomas, and every big name in town started making La Scala their home away from home.

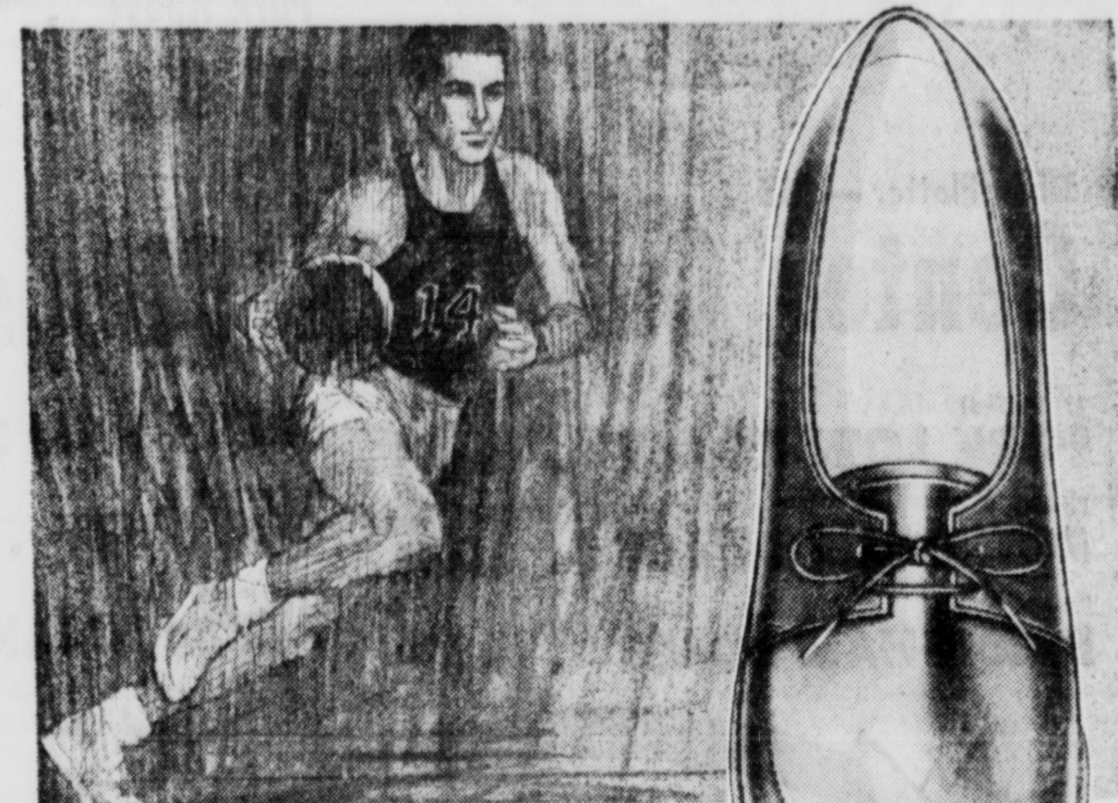

A few years ago, Leon gained international fame when the late President John F. Kennedy, on visits to this area, always had Jean and his chefs prepare his meals.

Leon's secret of success: "Food alone does not make a successful restaurant. It takes good food plus the ability to make a guest welcome."

Another secret: "Don't enlarge. Never get too big for the personal touch."

In the case of odd numbers where equal distribution among the congressional districts would not be possible, the balance would be elected from the county at-large.

Say, for instance, that Cuyahoga County with its four congressional districts would be entitled to 23 representatives. Five would be elected from each congressional district and the other three from the county at-large.

What about multi-county districts? How would they be formed and by whom?

That is where the state Apportionment Board comes in, the major point in Democratic arguments. They contend the board would gerrymander districts, that is, group weak Democratic areas with strong Republican areas to weaken Democratic strength.

Under Issue 3, the Apportionment Board would be increased from three members to seven with one Democrat and one Republican from each house of the legislature joining the governor, auditor, and secretary of state who now make up the board. The first apportionment board under Issue 3 would be ruled by Republicans 5-2. The first

Hollywood Cafe Owner Is French Horatio Alger

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — Jean Leon, a personable young fellow from Bayonne, France, is what this town calls a terrific success story.

In a decade, he has progressed from busboy to the owner of one of the movie colony's favorite hangouts.

And to make a French Horatio Alger dream come true, he now owns a castle in Spain — with its own vineyards.

Jean came to the United States in 1951 and immediately was drafted into the Army where he served a two-year hitch as a secretary to a psychiatrist — good training for running a movie star restaurant.

He started in the restaurant business as a busboy at the old Villa Capri where he became a favorite of Frank Sinatra, Natalie Wood, Jackie Gleason and others who frequented the Italian restaurant. A busboy by day, Jean drove a cab at night.

Patsy D'Amore, owner of the Villa Capri, promoted Jean to waiter, then captain. His Gallic charm and friendliness soon won him a host of friends in the movie crowd.

In 1957, he had no trouble borrowing money to open La Scala in a Beverly Hills location where seven other restaurants had gone broke in 11 years.

"Our first-day receipts were $76," Jean recalls. Now La Scala and its subsidiary, La Scala Boutique, grosses a million a year.

Arthur Loew Jr., scion of the theatrical family, was his first name customer — and he has been there almost nightly since. Sinatra, David Janssen, Danny Thomas, and every big name in town started making La Scala their home away from home.

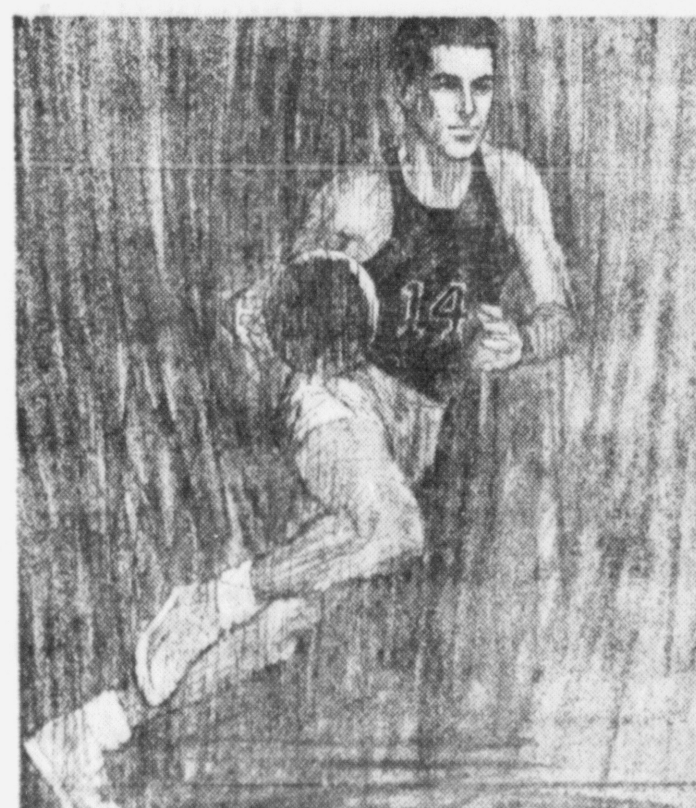

A few years ago, Leon gained international fame when the late President John F. Kennedy, on visits to this area, always had Jean and his chefs prepare his meals.

Leon's secret of success: "Food alone does not make a successful restaurant. It takes good food plus the ability to make a guest welcome."

Another secret: "Don't enlarge. Never get too big for the personal touch."

Librarianship As Career Is Suggested

EDITOR'S NOTE: The following article was written by Mrs. Wilmina Wolford, Pickaway District librarian. The article explores librarianship as a career, offering suggestions and facts concerning the profession.

The Pickaway County District Library maintains a comprehensive collection of books on careers and vocational guidance. Most of these books are in use almost constantly. Most of them, but not all.

Among the least-used books in this field are two dealing with librarianship as a career. "So You Want to be a Librarian", by Sarah Leslie Wallace and "Library Careers" by Richard and Irene Logsdon have hardly circulated during the year.

Most young people have no idea of the opportunities a career in librarianship has to offer. Each year, the number of unfilled professional positions continues to grow while the number of students graduating from library schools remains almost static. At this moment, ten percent of the positions in New York State are vacant. Since New York salaries are higher than average this figure is probably higher in most states. It is estimated that there will be 80,000 vacancies in the nation by 1970. But, if all the positions which are regarded as professional by current standards were to be filled with graduate librarians, 125,000 additional librarians would be needed now.

This unfilled demand has naturally forced salaries up. In 1950 some lucky library school graduates earned as much as $3,000 during the first year of their careers. This year's graduates can easily get double that amount. Library school graduates, with certain undergraduate subject specialties, can expect several hundred dollars more in special libraries.

Special libraries are usually associated with business establishments, hospitals, or research organizations. School libraries and college and university libraries are two other fields of librarianship. The school librarian will be required to have completed some courses in education. Specific requirements vary in different localities. In college or university work, the librarian has a wide variety of opportunities to specialize in a particular subject or line of work. A word of warning, however, the Ph.D. degree is almost a requirement for top administrative posts in this field.

Each of these fields has its own advantages and disadvantages, but we are primarily concerned with public libraries. There was a time when public libraries were regarded as a luxury, but in this complex age, they have become a necessity. So much so, in fact, that Cuyahoga County spends nearly ten million dollars a year on their support. This amounts to $5.35 per capita. A century ago, after a town had acquired a certain amount of industry, the civic leaders would think of opening a library. Today, industrial leaders consider the adequacy of libraries in determining where to locate a new plant.

There is little room here to explore the possibilities of librarianship as a career much further, but two or three things remain to be said. A love for books is a requirement for success, but it is not enough. Librarians do not spend their days reading books. Another point is that, while salaries are increasing, you won't get rich. On the other hand, 158 librarians were recently asked "If you were free to make the decision again would you choose librarianship as a career. All except six voted "yes".

So, if you think you're interested, read "Library Careers", by The Logsdons, or "So You

News of World in Brief

NEW YORK (AP) — The billion-dollar New York World's Fair reopened today for its final season and 6,000 persons were waiting at the main gate when the turnstiles started turning.

A ribbon was snipped to officially start the new season at 8:30 a.m.

The ribbon-cutting this sunny day started ceremonies highlighted by a parade and speeches by Vice President Hubert H. Humphrey and West German Mayor Willy Brandt.

COLUMBIA, S.C. (AP)—Gov. Donald S. Russell announced today he will resign as governor to pave the way for his appointment to the U.S. Senate seat now open due to the death of Sen. Olin D. Johnston, D-S.C.

Russell, 59-year-old Democrat, made the announcement at a news conference.

LI. Gov. Robert McNair, 43, will become governor and will appoint Russell to the Senate post.

Russell will serve until the next general election which is in November 1966. The post then will be filled by election.

The changeover will become effective at noon Thursday.

WASHINGTON (AP) — A group of Republicans in the House of Representatives has asked President Johnson to "break the ice" and visit French President Charles de Gaulle.

The suggestion was made Tuesday in a letter to Johnson from a GOP group called the Committee on the North Atlantic Treaty Organization.

It said that France and the United States are "sorely at odds" and the "icy discord between these two oldest-allies has engendered broader disunion in NATO and thus endangers individual liberty everywhere."

Junior High Thinlies Win Opening Meet

Circleville's Junior High track team won its opening meet of the season yesterday at Greenfield by romping to a 62-42 verdict.

The little Tigers were especially strong in the running events. The best performance of the day was a record heave of 45 feet four inches in the shotput by Don Cordle.

Cordle's toss broke the old record by more than two feet. Other first place finishes for the young Roundtowners were:

Mike Kaylor, broad jump; Jim Samuel, pole vault; Ricky Sims, 120 low hurdles; Bruce Liston, 220 dash; Chuck Downing, 440; Melvin Smith, 880; and 440 relay team composed of Kaylor, Cordle, Samuel and Dave Hopkins.

THE 880 relay team finished first, but was disqualified.

Other point-getters for the Tigers were: Byrd, third in the 100 dash; Samuel, second in the 120 hurdles and third in the 50-yard dash; Sims, second in the 100 dash; Kaylor, second in the 100 dash; Cordle, third in the 100; Lovensheimer, second in the 220; Gillian, second in the 440; Dortch third in the 880.

The Junior High thinlies travel Friday to Lancaster where it is expected they will meet a real test of strength.

Cycle Injury Treated Here

Rosco Ferguson, 22, Route 2, Laurelville, was treated in the emergency room at Berger Hospital yesterday after he fell from a motorcycle and fractured his right leg. Six persons were treated and released.

Carol Dean, 18, of 455 Stella Ave., lacerated her thumb on a meat slicer at Noel's King Boy.

Rickey Hanley, 12, son of Mr. and Mrs. Melvin Hanley, Route 4, fell at school and fractured his left arm.

Amber Skinner, 3, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Max Skinner, 525 Elm Ave., fell off a swing at a neighbors and lacerated her head.

Edgar Underwood, 57, Columbus, cut fingers of his right hand on a nail while at work.

Bertha Wolfe, 54, Route 4, an employee of the General Electric Lamp plant, suffered lacerations to her right leg after a lamp broke.

Lions View Cancer Film

Dr. H. W. Fraas, chairman of the Pickaway County Cancer Crusade, was guest speaker for the regular meeting of the Circleville Lions Club yesterday evening at the Wardell Party Home.

Dr. Fraas presented a film explaining the drive which is to start here next week.

Leslie Hines and James Krinn were introduced as guests. It was announced that the annual Light Bulb Sale would be conducted in May.

Ladies' Night will be observed May 18, at the Mecca Restaurant. Installation of officers and induction of new members will also be held during the May meeting.

Visitors driving Glacier National Park's 50-mile Going-to-the-Sun Highway are on what is considered one of the most scenic roadways in the world. It climbs gently westward and above timberline to 6,664-foot-high Logan Pass at the Continental Divide.

Service Employees Get Pay Increase

An ordinance granting pay increases to hourly employees of the Circleville Service Department was one of three measures approved last night by City Council.

The ordinance specifies that all hourly service workers, regardless of classification, shall be granted the cost of living raise. The increase amounts to 35 cents per hour.

Solon Joe Bell's service committee had earlier recommended passage of the pay raise request. The suggestion was based on whether or not the finance committee could make the necessary money available.

Councilman Frank Barnhill indicated last night the funds could be produced, although an extensive search into the budget was required to produce the money.

BARNHILL said the pay hike will bring the pay scale of regular service department employees to $1.75 per hour. The superintendent will go from $1.75 to $2.10 per hour.

The pay raise request was passed on a 6-0 vote following a suspension of rules.

A second ordinance enacted appropriated $1,000 to the general fund's outdoor relief account. The money will be used to defray burial expenses of indigent persons.

A third piece of legislation concerned the appropriation of $90 for payment of a refund due the Modern Rental & Investment Co. of Columbus. The money is for overpayment of sanitary tap-in charges.

The overpayment was explained by Ervin Leist, public utility manager. He said the refund was made necessary after a recent city ordinance changed the tap-in rate here.

Two ordinances requesting acceptance of two subdivision plats were held to first reading. The holding action came after solons David Crawford and John Jenkins voted against suspension of rules.

BOTH councilmen based their stand on the opinion that plat acceptances should not be made until council has had an opportunity to view the proposed sites. Jenkins also noted that he was under the assumption that previous policy called for submission of preliminary development plans before final action should be taken.

The plat proposals were submitted by the White Brothers Construction firm and Alfred Clifton of Circleville. Both had earlier approval of the city's Zoning and Planning Commission.

Clifton's development, known as the TEAL Subdivision, is comprised of 7 lots in the Pontious Lane vicinity. A $15,000 performance bond has been established for the project.

The White brothers development consists of six lots between Route 23 and the Walnut Creek Pike. The area supposedly is just within the city limits and is bordered on the south by the Bircher property and on the north by the Baptist Church. The owners are in the process of setting up a performance bond for the undertaking.

Crawford and Jenkins said they were not opposed to the plats themselves, but asserted

Lake Water Plan Approved

32 NW Ohio
Areas Give OK

BOWLING GREEN, Ohio (AP)—Officials from 32 communities in Northwestern Ohio have expressed approval for a study of a new Lake Erie water pipeline project.

The approval came Tuesday when mayors and other officials from the communities involved proposed establishment of a Maumee Basin Water Authority to get the plan rolling.

However, Defiance Mayor Robert Galliers indicated he has some reservations about the program.

The pipeline is designed to boost the industrial future of the northwestern region by providing water from Lake Erie to hard-pressed cities and towns.

But the future of the pipeline depends on the outcome of a state $290 million bond issue proposal on the May primary ballot. From that issue, $20 million would be appropriated for the pipeline project.

The original proposal called for building a pipeline to pump Lake Erie water as far south as the Lima-Findlay area, with reservoirs to be built later as water needs expanded.

This proposal drew protests, particularly from Lima and Findlay officials, who said the cost of the water made the project economically infeasible.

The newest proposal calls for constructing half the pipeline and the reservoirs immediately, with the rest of the pipeline to be built later when more water is needed in the Lima-Findlay area.

Mayor Galliers said the pipeline would cost Defiance an additional $1,000 a day. He told newsmen he felt the possibility of constructing reservoirs instead of a pipeline should be considered.

The Ohio House, meanwhile, is expected to vote today on a bill to authorize a feasibility study of the pipeline.

Sparkman Raps Racial Boycott Plan

CINCINNATI (AP)—Sen. John Sparkman told 800 financial executives Tuesday night he was confident the American people would repudiate an effort by civil rights leaders to place an economic boycott against Alabama.

The Alabama Democrat said he would campaign to "repudiate this economic recklessness" advocated by those who call for "our fellow Americans to declare economic war against us in Alabama."

Sparkman spoke at a stockholders meeting of the Federal Home Loan Bank of Cincinnati, attended by savings and loan executives from Ohio, Kentucky and Tennessee.

The boycott against Alabama called for by the Rev. Martin Luther King, civil rights leader, because of segregation in Alabama.

Business leaders in Alabama, Sparkman said, have declared their determination "that all shall receive fair treatment under the laws and all laws shall be complied with whether popular or not."

"During these trying days, the people of Alabama are working together and we shall continue to develop our resources and to take advantage of the great potential of our state," he said.

Cleveland Policeman Is Accused of Bribery

CLEVELAND (AP)—Patrolman Raymond J. Uzell pleaded innocent Tuesday when arraigned in Municipal Court on charges that he solicited and accepted a $100 bribe in connection with a traffic accident.

Police said officers, acting on a tip to a newspaper reporter, set up a "payoff" with marked money at Burke Lakeland Airport last Saturday. Mrs. Carol Witt, 32, of Wickliffe, a friend of the driver of one of the cars in the accident, made the payoff with the marked bills, police said.

Navy Squadron, Aloft since '58 Scheduled To Complete Its Patrol

MIDWAY ISLAND (AP)—Since 1958, a U.S. Navy squadron of Super Constellation has remained airborne 24 hours a day, seven days a week, patrolling the 1,500 miles between Midway Island and Alaska.

On April 30, the last of these patrols will be launched from this lonely North Pacific island, 1,100 miles northwest of Honolulu, then, the Distant Early Warning — DEW — line extension will be ended.

The planes will, for the most part, be mothballed, and their aircrews dispersed to other jobs. Many of them already have left.

The Department of Defense decreed an end to the patrol because of the "declining nature of a manned bomber threat."

There has been no announcement as to what, if anything, will replace the patrol.

The mission of the aviators has been something less than dramatic. It has been described as the most grueling of cold war jobs.

In 1958, the decision was made to close the gap through which the U.S. West Coast was vulnerable to possible attack by manned, supersonic enemy bombers with nuclear payloads. The DEW line stretching across the Canadian land mass from the Atlantic to the Pacific, blocking the polar route, was lengthened.

Radar picket ships patrolled the stormy North Pacific. Their job was much the same as the aircraft. These, too are being withdrawn.

The planes and ships all were part of the airborne warning barrier, the nerve center of which was Barber's Point Naval Air Station near Honolulu.

It was from Midway Island, however, that the planes flew. The barrier squadron was the largest in the Navy with 26 aircraft manned and maintained by 340 officers and 1,700 enlisted men.

Each plane, with its six tons of electronic equipment carried a crew of about 20, half of these being "scope watchers." These men peered at four radar screens watching for "blips." The "blips" could mean enemy attackers.

Much of the expanse from Midway Island to the Aleutians is shrouded in fog.

The weather tested pilots' and navigators' abilities, prevented boredom in the flight to nowhere and back. The planes never landed except where they started, and never had a serious accident.

Lt. (j.g.) Dave Fore, a navigator from Corpus Christi, Tex., said there wasn't much drama aloft. "Blips" on the radar scopes would be spotted, radioed to operation control on the ground for evaluation, and the flight would go on. It was someone else's job to stop an attack. An average flight lasted 17 hours.

Fore said they got "the best chow in the service" and the galley in one of the Constellation would almost make a Honolulu housewife envious.

Beds—called "racks"—were plentiful and comfortable. Mostly, men worked for four hours and slept three.

"It's okay once you get used to the sleeping arrangements," said chief pilot Lt. Bob Palmquist of Columbia, Mo. "And if you like to fly—which I do—there's plenty of that."

The World Today

By James Marlow

WASHINGTON (AP)—Lyndon B. Johnson has now served the first three months of his full presidential term and it hasn't been long enough to get a rounded picture of him.

Only part of him, like an iceberg, has been visible so far. His policies and tactics at home are clear enough. His foreign policy isn't.

His success at home, at least with Congress, has been astonishing. The same can't be said of his dealings abroad, if only because there hasn't been enough of them, although they could turn out that way.

In foreign policy he could wind up being the toughest president in years.

What he did in foreign affairs between the time he succeeded President John F. Kennedy on Nov. 22, 1963, and when he was sworn in on his own last Jan. 20 can't be taken as a yardstick.

In that period he played it cool, quiet and cautious. He had no real crisis, there was an election coming, and he wasn't about to supply the opposition with ammunition.

Then, within a month after beginning his own four-year term, he made a very tough decision.

This was his order last Feb. 7 to bomb Communist North Viet Nam. And, refusing to yield to criticism, he has kept the bombing going ever since, even though it could lead to conflict with the Soviet Union and Red China.

Since no other problem in the past three months has required such drastic action, this one example is not enough evidence on which to build a case for a hard-nosed man in the White House.

It's hard to say whether he was being tough or just rough in the way he recently handled the prime minister of India and the president of Pakistan, both of whom were to visit here soon.

He canceled their visits so abruptly that The Associated Press reported from India that the prime minister was deemed publicly disgraced. The reason?

The White House said Johnson was going to be too busy with Viet Nam and Congress to receive the two visitors who are next-door neighbors in Asia, but not friendly ones.

But The AP reported from India it is generally believed there that Johnson did what he did to show his displeasure with India and Pakistan, both of whom have received U.S. aid, for their criticism of this country.

Johnson's action undoubtedly reflects the feelings of many Americans who are getting fed up seeing the United States lambasted by countries which have had their hands out for U.S. help.

History may decide that the United States, in playing meek nursemaid to countries it hoped to keep away from communism with American aid, pursued far too long a policy far too soft and injurious to itself.

The other side of the coin, of course, is the fact that since World War II no country has voluntarily adopted communism and that in the intervening years the solid front of communism itself has been shattered.

But if Johnson acted hurriedly out of irritation with India and Pakistan, this was not a policy at all but an impulse, leaving Viet Nam as the only sign of a new, tough American attitude in these past three months.

At home Johnson has used the velvet glove but with one big exception in which he got domestically tough, too: this was in getting far tougher than any of his predecessors in demanding equal rights for Negroes.

With Congress Johnson has worked day and night, always without visible conflict, pushing, pulling, pressuring, phoning, entertaining, urging, demanding, and always with steady progress and success.

G-Man, 2 Policemen Get Dope Probe Payoff, Claim

MIAMI, Fla., (AP)—The chief federal narcotics agent in Miami and two of the city's police vice-squad officers have been charged with accepting a bribe from a dope peddler who complained he was paying $2,000 a month in protection money.

The arrests were made Tuesday by city police and a team of Federal Narcotics Bureau agents at the home of an admitted narcotics operator after the trio was said to have accepted $130 in marked money.

The three were charged with accepting a bribe, a felony under Florida law, and released on their personal bond. They are Eugene J. Marshall, 39, head of the U.S. Narcotics Bureau for southeastern Florida; police Sgt. Frank Fountain, 39, second in command of the city's vice squad; and his assistant, Roosevelt Tremble, 34, a Negro plainclothes detective.

Police Chief Walter Headley said the arrests climaxed a week of investigation. It started when the dope peddler complained to police about the protection money he said he was forced to pay.

Headley quoted the informer as saying he wanted "to quit,

but they wouldn't let me."

The police chief declined to disclose the informer's name or details of the investigation, saying they would come out in court.

A source close to the investigation said the informer was a known dope peddler—doing around a $10,000-per-month business mainly in the Cuban and Negro districts of Miami—and had an extensive police record.

The source said the informer went to the police department's internal security squad last Tuesday and told his story.

The subsequent investigation led to the arrests at the informer's home by federal narcotics agents and police officers unknown to the trio.

Marshall, a career officer in the Federal Narcotics Bureau came to Miami in 1958 when it was a one-man office. When Fidel Castro took over Cuba and refugees started pouring into Miami, the office was expanded and Marshall was put in charge.

But if Johnson acted hurriedly out of irritation with India and Pakistan, this was not a policy at all but an impulse, leaving Viet Nam as the only sign of a new, tough American attitude in these past three months.

At home Johnson has used the velvet glove but with one big exception in which he got domestically tough, too: this was in getting far tougher than any of his predecessors in demanding equal rights for Negroes.

With Congress Johnson has worked day and night, always without visible conflict, pushing, pulling, pressuring, phoning, entertaining, urging, demanding, and always with steady progress and success.

G-Man, 2 Policemen Get Dope Probe Payoff, Claim

MIAMI, Fla., (AP) — The chief federal narcotics agent in Miami and two of the city's police vice-squad officers have been charged with accepting a bribe from a dope peddler who complained he was paying $2,000 a month in protection money.

The arrests were made Tuesday by city police and a team of Federal Narcotics Bureau agents at the home of an admitted narcotics operator after the trio was said to have accepted $130 in marked money.

The three were charged with accepting a bribe, a felony under Florida law, and released on their personal bond. They are Eugene J. Marshall, 39, head of the U.S. Narcotics Bureau for southeastern Florida; police Sgt. Frank Fountain, 39, second in command of the city's vice squad; and his assistant, Roosevelt Tremble, 34, a Negro plainclothes detective.

Police Chief Walter Headley said the arrests climaxed a week of investigation. It started when the dope peddler complained to police about the protection money he said he was forced to pay.

Headley quoted the informer as saying he wanted "to quit,

but they wouldn't let me."

The police chief declined to disclose the informer's name or details of the investigation, saying they would come out in court.

A source close to the investigation said the informer was a known dope peddler — doing around a $10,000-per-month business mainly in the Cuban and Negro districts of Miami — and had an extensive police record.

The source said the informer went to the police department's internal security squad last Tuesday and told his story.

The subsequent investigation led to the arrests at the informer's home by federal narcotics agents and police officers unknown to the trio.

Marshall, a career officer in the Federal Narcotics Bureau came to Miami in 1958 when it was a one-man office. When Fidel Castro took over Cuba and refugees started pouring into Miami, the office was expanded and Marshall was put in charge.

Here's Panorama Of Week News

EDITOR'S NOTE — A horse-show sculpture in Missouri, an octogenarian pilot in Kansas and a way to fight Arizona gophers are among slices of U.S. life this week.

CHILLICOTHE, Mo. (AP) — It looks like something out of a nightmare: 42 old horseshoes and the iron seat from an early-day farm cultivator welded together.

Sophisticates might call it pop art sculpture, the sort of thing that sells for substantial cash in cultural centers today.

Retired farmer Mat Petersen who designed it, auctioneer Hugh Campbell who sold it, and motel operator Elwood Allnut who bought it for $20 call it a chair.

Petersen, near 80, refused to discuss his creation but snorted, "I wouldn't make another one for that price!"

Campbell said he told the auction crowd "about the pop art craze back East but folks around here aren't interested in such things."

Allnut said he wanted it for a sideshow museum of oddities he is building for his motel and just thought it "interesting to look at."

But Allnut added reflectively, "I just might start calling it modern sculpture and see what it'll bring."

WICHITA, Kan. (AP) — Back in 1929, when Marcellus M. Murdock was in his late 40s, the boss of a pioneer aviation company told him he was too old to learn to fly.

Murdock bought a plane, hired an instructor, and he has been flying happily ever since. He celebrated his 82nd birthday last February with a lesson in a twin-engine plane and 11 days later received his multi-engine rating.

Murdock, president and chairman of the board of Wichita Eagle and Beacon Publishing Co. Inc., explained it this way: "Flying has a peculiar fascination for me. There is a challenge. I never felt I was a courageous man, so it isn't courage. I just like it."

He has logged more than 6,000 hours as a pilot and in recent years has handled the controls of an Air Force F100 and the KC97 jet tanker plane. After his F100 flight he received a "mach-buster" button for flying faster than sound.

PHOENIX, Ariz. (AP) — A slick new weapon has been added to the arsenal of gas, poison, garden tools and traps in the battle being waged by homeowners against gophers.

It's plain old bacon grease. Amelia Barber of Phoenix became concerned when a colony of eight gophers started working over her lawn.

She offered a $1 reward to college students boarding at her home for each gopher. Their reaction:

"Those gophers are highly educated and I have failed to match wits with 'em in the past." "I don't know anything about mechanics and couldn't set the traps." "I have never done anything like that before and don't want to start now."

So Mrs. Barber took her problem to Mrs. Ernell Clark, her next-door neighbor. Mrs. Clark disclosed she has routed gophers by pouring bacon grease in the holes and washing it down with a hose.

Mrs. Barber tried it — and now says her gophers are gone, too.

WASHINGTON (AP)—Thanks to a head start over the rest of the country, Washington's antipoverty drive is in high gear. It could be a preview of what happens nationally.

Even before Congress approved what President Johnson describes as a "war on poverty," programs were under way here to combat illiteracy, delinquency and unemployment.

One of the program's major concepts, the neighborhood youth corps program to reduce school dropouts and improve economic opportunities for teenagers, first was tried out here on a pilot basis last year.

When a congressional task force checked recently into the local effort, its chairman, Rep. Hugh L. Carey, D-N.Y., said: "I could not be more delighted, nor surprised, than I was to see how far you've gone. I just hope as we go around the country, we see as many good evidences of good progress."

Since the Office of Economic Opportunity began to dispense antipoverty grants last November, it has poured almost $5 million into programs here.

Besides these funds, the United Planning Organization which is coordinating Washington's antipoverty programs, has received more than $3 million from other sources with another $5 million on the way.

This includes two grants from the Ford Foundation, totaling $3.36 million, to reduce poverty, dependency and delinquency; and $5 million voted by Congress last year.

A large portion of this money is being used in the capital's Cardozo district — a predominantly Negro slum area with high unemployment and illiteracy.

An experimental model school program is under way in Cardozo's 14 elementary and three junior high schools, supported by a $604,368 grant from the Office of Economic Opportunity and other grants which bring the total available to $1.1 million.

Paul P. Cooke, director of the model school division, estimates that 6,200 of the 18,000 in Cardozo schools are participating in some aspects of the program. But he expressed concern that too few children living in what he called "the hard core of poverty" — families on welfare or with incomes under $3,000 a year — were participating.

The Cardozo district also is being helped by the neighborhood development program in which some people are being

Gerald Winfough and Mrs. Ora Benner will be in charge of the white elephant sale that is also planned for the evening.

2 Ohio Cities Get OK For Youth Corps Units

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Gov. James A. Rhodes has approved Martins Ferry and Columbus as sites for Neighborhood Youth Corps centers.

The centers, for jobless youths from 16 to 22, are part of President Johnson's antipoverty program being administered in Ohio by the Bureau of Unemployment Compensation.

The largest grants in the Washington program so far have gone for the neighborhood youth corps.

The first grant of $2.25 million was to provide part-time jobs with government, school and social agencies for 1,500 boys and 1,754 girls so they can afford to stay in school.

A second grant of $800,000 will finance a youth opportunity center and a network of neighborhood job planning centers to provide youths 16 to 21 with testing, counseling and job referral services.

These other programs are either under way or on the planning boards:

—A job training program for unemployed heads of households. An enrollment of 700 is planned for launching of the program this summer.

—A program to teach adolescent school dropouts and potential dropouts to read. A grant of $151,000 is expected to help 500 persons from 15 to 22 with hopes some will later become teachers.

—An adult education program to increase chances for jobs.

—Development of family foster homes in Cardozo and other areas.

—Improved legal services for provide newcomers to Washington with food, shelter, employment opportunities and bus fare to seek jobs.

An experimental model school program is under way in Cardozo's 14 elementary and three junior high schools, supported by a $604,368 grant from the Office of Economic Opportunity and other grants which bring the total available to $1.1 million.

Paul P. Cooke, director of the model school division, estimates that 6,200 of the 18,000 in Cardozo schools are participating in some aspects of the program.

But he expressed concern that too few children living in what he called "the hard core of poverty" — families on welfare or with incomes under $3,000 a year — were participating.

The Cardozo district also is being helped by the neighborhood development program in which some people are being used to teach their neighbors how to spend their money and how to use community health education and cultural facilities.

A suit designed to cut off funds to the United Planning Organization until more people participate in its decision-making is pending in U.S. District Court. It was filed by Julius Hobson, head

Mustangs Record 4th Win in Row

Westfall's baseball Mustangs chalked their fourth win without a loss yesterday by handing visiting Madison South an 8-1 setback. The tilt was played on the Jackson Twp. diamond.

Coach Paul Hoskins' nine made good use of five hits, two walks and three enemy bobbles. Pitcher Danny Bowen hurled this third straight victory and recorded 12 strikeouts in the process.

The lone run by Madison South, tallied in the opening frame, was the first scored off Bowen in 21 innings. He limited the visitors to five hits and allowed two walks.

Westfall opened with a determined effort by scoring three runs in the first inning. The Mustangs settled things decisively with five big tallies in the sixth. Madison South accounted for its lone marker in the first.

THE MUSTANG scoring punch was spearheaded by Tom Hamman's triple and Ray Mowery's double. Each blow produced two runs.

Kenney Martindale and Lou Gantz aided the Westfall swatting department with two singles each.

Joe Deck was charged with the loss. He permitted eight hits, walked two and fanned none.

The Mustangs will travel to Mt. Sterling today for a contest. They host Pike-ton Friday in a Scioto Valley Conference battle.

Coach Hoskins said the Pike-ton game probably will be played on the Jackson diamond. Efforts are being pushed to complete the field at Westfall.

1900 Olympian, Now 90, Due To Be Cited Saturday

TUNKHANNOCK, Pa., (AP) — A man who got into the 1900 Olympic Games by accident, trained by leaping over grave-stones and won a motorcycle for his efforts will be honored Saturday at the 71st annual Penn Relays.

Ninety-year-old Walter B. Tewksbury of Tunkhannock, Pa., believed to be America's oldest living Olympian, will be awarded a plaque at a special ceremony during the annual relays at Franklin Field. He has been ill recently, however, and says he won't be able to make the trip.

Relays officials remain hopeful that the 1899 Penn graduate will get a last-minute okay from his doctor to make the trip.

His voice still remarkably strong and his memory sharp despite his age, the retired dentist recalled how it happened that he was chosen for the Olympic squad, and how he became a double winner.

He had been an intercollegiate champion at Penn in both the 100 and 220-yard dashes but was out of competition when Penn Coach Mike Murphy began forming plans to lead a Penn squad to the 1900 Olympics at Paris.

Murphy, a fancier of early American glassware, heard of a Tunkhannock family that had an outstanding collection. He went there hoping to acquire some pieces, fell into conversation with Tewksbury, and wound up with a double Olympic champion.

Having been promised a berth on the Penn squad of eight if he worked himself into form, Tewksbury proceeded to do just that. Unable to find a hurdles course near his home, he improvised.

Each evening he went to a cemetery near his home and trained by leaping over headstones, startling passersby, but nevertheless whipping himself into top shape.

In the Parisian games, he won the 200-meter dash in 22.2 seconds and the 400-meter hurdles in :57.6, placed second in the 60-meter and 100-meter dashes, and was third in the 200-meter hurdles.

For his efforts, he was awarded bronze medallions. The now-traditional gold medals had not yet come into vogue.

At a banquet climaxed the games, a member of the British royal family thought that Tewksbury deserved something better.

Hartack Assigned To Ride Bold Lad

NEW YORK (AP) — Bill Hartack will shoot for a record-breaking fifth Kentucky Derby victory aboard highly regarded Bold Lad, thanks to the latest in a series of musical chairs maneuvers of riding assignments for the May 1 racing classic.

Hartack, who has won four of six Derby starts, was named Tuesday to ride Bold Lad, a top-heavy favorite until last Saturday's third-place finish in the Wood Memorial at Aqueduct.

The controversial veteran replaces Manuel Ycaza, who was aboard Bold Lad in the Wood as a substitute for the suspended Braulio Baeza. Hartack also will be up when Bold Lad goes in the Derby Trial next Tuesday.

Tommy James, the man who held the ball for Lou Groza's placement kicks more than 10 years ago, lives in Massillon, Ohio where he is a transportation company salesman.

Viking Errors Are Costly in 4-0 Defeat

Teays Valley, crippled by errors, was handed a 4-0 loss yesterday at Hamilton Twp.

The Vikings committed five bobbles that placed all four Hamilton runs in the unearned category. The victors were charged with one error.

Hurler Bill Dore suffered the loss. He was relieved in the last inning by Griffey.

Jim Wells got credit for the win. He allowed four hits, fanned four and walked six.

DORE also permitted only four hits, but was handicapped by his team's miscues. He whiffed three and walked three.

Butch Kinsel was the hitting star for the Vikings. He rapped two singles in three plate appearances.

Hamilton won the South Suburban League contest with a single run in the third and three in fifth. Teays Valley's record is now 0-2.

The Vikings will go for their first victory today when they travel to Carroll for a non-loop bout.

Teays Valley High To Host First Invitational Meeting

The first annual Teays Valley Invitational Track meet is scheduled to get under way beginning 10 a. m. Saturday. Twelve teams have received invitations.

Finals in the high jump and pole vault are scheduled at opening time. Preliminaries in the other field events also are set at 10.

The finals begin at 1:30 p.m. The Teays Valley oval, although 40 yards short of a full quarter mile, is rated the best in the county.

It is a six-lane track and facilities include a straight-away chute that is more than 220 yards long.

BECAUSE the track is short, the mile and the 880 yard runs are run as four and two lap events rather than the full distance.

The list of events includes the standard five field and nine running events. This conforms with Ohio high school track meet standards.

Preliminaries will be held in all events with the exception of the high jump, the pole vault, the 880 yard run, the mile run and the relays.

The 12 teams participating include the four high schools in Pickaway County—Teays Valley, Circleville, Westfall and Logan Elm.

From the South Suburban League, of which Teays Valley is a member, only Hamilton Twp. will compete.

In addition to Circleville, the South Central Ohio League will be represented by Miami Trace.

Joey Jay Faces Test For 'Big 5'

CHICAGO (AP)—If Joey Jay wins today, Manager Dick Sisler's "Big Five" on the Cincinnati Reds pitching staff will be complete.

Jay drew the starting assignment for the afternoon game against the Chicago Cubs. It'll be his first appearance of the young season.

"If Joey can come up with a winner, our 'Big Five' will be all set to roll," Sisler said.

Others in the exclusive "five" are Sammy Ellis, Jim O'Toole, Jim Maloney and John Tsiouris.

Maloney joined the inner circle, as Sisler likes to refer to his top pitchers, Monday when he pitched a one-hitter against the Milwaukee Braves. The Reds won 2-0.

Maloney had a poor spring showing, and was kept out of the starting rotation for a while. And Jay is hoping to follow in his footsteps.

Jay, a right-hander, also had a dismal spring showing, but it was mostly due to a virus. However, he says he's well and ready to go. Jay was 11-11 last year.

The Reds, idle Tuesday, will meet Chicago for the first time, and Jay will be facing Larry Jackson, top winner in the majors last year with 23 victories.

2 Ohio Women Golfers Win in Tournament

PINEHURST, N.C. (AP) — Two Ohio golfers scored first round victories Tuesday in the North and South Amateur Women's Golf Tournament.

Mrs. Barbara Fitton of Hamilton, Ohio, defeated Bonnie Sue Andrie of Mogadore, Ohio, 2 up, and Anne Richardson, of Columbus, Ohio, defeated Mrs. Margaret Howard, of Winston-Salem, N.C., 3 and 2.

Groveport of the Mid-Eight and Madison South of the Darby Valley League are among the schools.

FROM THE Franklin County League, West Jefferson has accepted an invitation while Liberty Union, Amanda-Clearcreek and Pickerington of Fairfield County will be there.

WCH Loses Grid Coach

Board Refuses To Renew Contract

WASHINGTON C. H. — Richard L. Anders, head football coach of the Blue Lions at Washington C. H., won't be around come September.

The WCH Board of Education declined to renew Anders' contract during a regular meeting Monday evening. The 27-year-old mentor began a five-year tenure as Blue Lions coach in the fall of 1960.

He holds a record of 25 wins, 23 losses and two ties in his five seasons as grid mentor.

Action to terminate Anders' contract was taken without discussion by the school board. Marshall D. Boggs, superintendent, was quoted as saying Anders "has fine qualities, but I definitely feel he may not be in his field."

The board indicated the action was taken only "in the field of teaching." The coach was also physical education instructor.

Kerns, Brandt Stables Prep At Pickaway Fairgrounds

By STEVE JONES
Rounding out the list of stables quartered at the Pickaway County Fairgrounds race track for the training season are those of Mrs. Marilla and Albert Kerns Jr. and Dick Brandt.

The Kerns stable is one of the smallest at the fairgrounds with only three young pacers under their care. All three are owned by them.

Albert is the trainer. A pair of green 2-year-olds he is grooming for the coming season are Juzenes First and Little Walt. A 3-year-old that campaigned a little last year is Marjun K.

BRANDT, a former football star from Logan, has a total of 12 head stabled here. Seven of them he deems worthy of mention. The other five are green colts.

With the exception of Second Chance, a 2-year-old trotter owned by L. J. Collins of Lancaster, Brandt is the owner of the other standardbreds.

Chet Lynn Cadet, a trotter, owns the best mark of the string with a record of 2:05.3 for the mile. Another trotter, Barton

Holl, has gone the mile in 2:08.2. An aged pacer, Dixie Day, has a record of 2:09 for Brandt. Rounding out the stable are Pats Brat, a 3-year-old pacer; Aunt Myrtle, a year-old trotter, and Johnny Fisher, a 2-year-old pacer.

Both Kerns and Brandt plan to enter horses in the popular Pickaway County Harness Matinee at the Fairgrounds Sunday. Post time is 1 p. m.

During the season, Brandt will race at Northfield Park near Cleveland and at Scioto Downs. He also plans to go to The Meadows in Pennsylvania and will probably appear at a few county fairs in central Ohio.

The Kerns stable will follow the fair circuit to some extent and will campaign at Scioto Downs and other Ohio tracks.

Spahn Shows Old Form in Win for Mets

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Warren Spahn gave every indication in 1964 that he was getting too old to remain a big winner in the majors. Apparently he stopped off somewhere between seasons for a vitamin pick-me-up that has taken a couple of years off his 43-year-old left arm.

Making his second start Tuesday night, the winningest southpaw in major league history came through with another strong performance, allowing only one earned run in a 3-2 victory over Los Angeles that brought him his first triumph as a New York Met and the 357th of his career.

That left Spahn with a sparkling 2.12 earned-run average and two steps closer toward his prime 1965 goal—"erasing the memory of last year when everything went bad for me."

Spahn won 23 games for Milwaukee in 1963, then fell to a 6-13 mark last season with a 5.28 ERA. But he never once assumed he was over the hill.

"I am sound physically," he pointed out during spring training. "I just wasn't pitching enough last year. I have to work regularly to be effective."

"You can't convince me you go from middle age to old age in one year."

He proved his point against the Dodgers, working into the ninth with a four-hit shutout.

Then a single by Wes Parker and an error by Ed Kranepool opened the door and the Dodgers struck their foot in it with run-producing singles by Tommy Davis and John Roseboro.

But with the tying and winning runs on first and third, Spahn reared back into his high kick and pitched out of the jam.

He struck out Jim Lefebvre for strikeout No. 2,500 of his career, got Ron Fairly on a grounder and finished with a flourish by striking out John Kennedy.

Elsewhere, Roberto Clemente, still underweight from a battle with malaria this spring, drove in two runs with a pair of singles in Pittsburgh's 3-1 victory over San Francisco and Philadelphia edged Houston 2-1 in 13 innings on Ruben Amaro's key single. The other clubs were not scheduled.

In the only scheduled American League game, Boston defeated Washington 5-2.

Spahn was locked in a scoreless duel with Dodger starter Claude Osteen, who had allowed only three hits, until the eighth when Roy McMillan's squeeze bunt brought in Johnny Lewis.

Lewis produced the other New York runs with a two-run single in the ninth inning. Clemente, who has six hits in his last 12 at-bats, singles following Bill Virdon's double in the first inning and drove in another Pirate run in the fifth after Dick Schofield singled and moved a second on a grounder.

Willie Mays provided the only San Francisco run with his third homer of the season. Mays' 420-foot belt came off Bob Friend, who needed Al McBean's relief help over the final 2-2-3 innings to get his second victory without a loss.

The Phillies edged the Astros in the 13th when reliever Hal Woodeshick issued two-out walks to Cookie Rojas and Frank Thomas before Amaro followed with his game-winning hit off Claude Raymond.

Viking Thinclads Win Triangular

Bolstered by seven first places, Teays Valley captured top honors yesterday in a triangular track meet that included teams from St. Charles and The Plains.

The Viking thinclads walked away with the scoring production by notching 64 1/2 points. St. Charles finished second with 46 1/2 and The Plains accumulated 36.

Teays Valley grabbed firsts in the discus, pole vault, high hurdles, mile run, low hurdles and 880-yard run. The victors also won four seconds, four thirds and six fourths.

Celtics Hoping For Quick Finish

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Coach Red Auerbach, the colorful coach of the Boston Celtics, isn't ready to predict when he'll light his well-known victory cigar for the final time of the long National Basketball Association season.

But Auerbach indicated he'd just as soon make it three straight over the Los Angeles Lakers tonight and wrap up the championship in the fourth struggle Friday night, again here.

"We came to play. I hope we win one game, two games in Los Angeles. That's about all I can say," said Auerbach, who has a custom of lighting a cigar toward the end of a game when victory seems assured.

Dick Gernert, former outfielder, scouts for the Cincinnati Reds.

Jack Kaiser is in his 10th season as St. John's (Long Island) baseball coach. His teams began the current season with 230 victories against 57 defeats.

The Teays firsts were earned by Daft in the discus, J. Smith in the pole vault, Ray in the high and low hurdles, Kunkle in the mile and Puckett in the 880.

RECORDING second spots for the Vikings were Wilson in the high jump and broad jump, Annon in the 100-yard dash and Green in the 440.

Ray, the Vikings' double winner, covered the high hurdles in 17.2 and the lows in 22.8. Daft hurled the discus 111-8 1/2.

Smith's winning pole vault effort was 10-9. Kunkle paced the mile in 5:19.2 and Puckett covered the 880 in 2:22.5. The other first was turned in by the mile relay crew.

St. Charles was awarded four first places. The team's top performances were in broad jump, 100-yard dash, high jump and 220 dash. The Plains captured firsts in two events. They were the shotput and the 440-yard run.

Hunting, Fishing Permits Hit Mark

WASHINGTON (AP) — A record 34,342,176 hunters and fishermen spent more than $132 million, also a record, in the United States on hunting and fishing licenses and permits during the year ending last June 30.

The Interior Department reported today there were 20,219,457 fishermen listed as paid license holders by the 50 states, 387,813 more than in the previous year. They paid $60,213,427 for licenses and permits, a record by $2,433,168.

Licensed hunters increased by 123,824, to a total of 14,122,659. They spent $72,071,094 for their licenses and permits, an increase of $3,965,071.

The Tigers managed only three firsts for the day. Woods and Pontious are both sidelined with leg injuries.

One of the first places for Circleville came on the best performance of the season by Doug Price who cleared the high jump bar at an even six feet.

Gene Smith's toss of 136-11 in the discus also was good for a first place. The Tigers' other top place was turned in by Howard Dade who sped over the 120-yard high hurdles in 16.9.

CIRCLEVILLE garnered only three second places during their match with the strong Cavaliers. Mike Ramey turned the trick in the shotput. Dade did the same in the low hurdles and Pyles grabbed second in the 220.

The Tigers earned five thirds, on performances by Mike Wells in the discus, Tigner in the pole vault, Larry Morgan in the mile, Mansil Hurlbut in the 440 and Price in the low hurdles.

Coach Jim Lint said he was pleased with Morgan's 4:49.1 in the mile and Hurlbut's 54.4 in the 440.

The Tigers are scheduled Thursday at Teays Valley for a regular meet. They return to the same school Saturday for the Vikings' Invitational that will include 12 teams.

WASHINGTON C. H. — Richard L. Anders, head football coach of the Blue Lions at Washington C. H., won't be around come September.

The WCH Board of Education declined to renew Anders' contract during a regular meeting Monday evening. The 27-year-old mentor began a five-year tenure as Blue Lions coach in the fall of 1960.

He holds a record of 25 wins, 23 losses and two ties in his five seasons as grid mentor.

Action to terminate Anders' contract was taken without discussion by the school board. Marshall D. Boggs, superintendent, was quoted as saying Anders "has fine qualities, but I definitely feel he may not be in his field."

The board indicated the action was taken only "in the field of teaching." The coach was also physical education instructor.

Kerns, Brandt Stables Prep At Pickaway Fairgrounds

By STEVE JONES
Rounding out the list of stables quartered at the Pickaway County Fairgrounds race track for the training season are those of Mrs. Marilla and Albert Kerns Jr. and Dick Brandt.

The Kerns stable is one of the smallest at the Fairgrounds with only three young pacers under their care. All three are owned by them.

Albert is the trainer. A pair of green 2-year-olds he is grooming for the coming season are Juzenes First and Little Walt.

A 3-year-old that campaigned a little last year is Marjun K.

BRANDT, a former football star from Logan, has a total of 12 head stabled here. Seven of them he deems worthy of mention. The other five are green colts.

With the exception of Second Chance, a 2-year-old trotter owned by I. J. Collins of Lancaster, Brandt is the owner of the other standardbreds.

Chef Lynn Cadet, a trotter, owns the best mark of the string with a record of 2:05.3 for the mile. Another trotter, Barton Holl, has gone the mile in 2:18.2. An aged pacer, Dixie Day, has a record of 2:09 for Brandt. Rounding out the stable are Pats Brat, a 3-year-old pacer; Aunt Myrtle, a year-old trotter, and Johnny Fisher, a 2-year-old pacer.

Both Kerns and Brandt plan to enter horses in the popular Pickaway County Harness Matinee at the Fairgrounds Sunday. Post time is 1 p. m.

During the season, Brandt will race at Northfield Park near Cleveland and at Scioto Downs. He also plans to go to The Meadows in Pennsylvania and will probably appear at a few county fairs in central Ohio.

The Kerns stable will follow the fair circuit to some extent and will campaign at Scioto Downs and other Ohio tracks.

Spahn Shows Old Form in Win for Mets

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
Warren Spahn gave every indication in 1964 that he was getting too old to remain a big winner in the majors. Apparently he stopped off somewhere between seasons for a vitamin pick-me-up that has taken a couple of years off his 43-year-old left arm.

Making his second start Tuesday night, the winningest southpaw in major league history came through with another strong performance, allowing only one earned run in a 3-2 victory over Los Angeles that brought him his first triumph as a New York Met and the 357th of his career.

That left Spahn with a sparkling 2.12 earned-run average and two steps closer toward his prime 1965 goal—"erasing the memory of last year when everything went bad for me."

Spahn won 23 games for Milwaukee in 1963, then fell to a 6-13 mark last season with a 5.28 ERA. But he never once assumed he was over the hill.

"I am sound physically," he pointed out during spring training. "I just wasn't pitching enough last year. I have to work regularly to be effective."

"You can't convince me you go from middle age to old age in one year."

He proved his point against the Dodgers, working into the ninth with a four-hit shutout.

Then a single by Wes Parker and an error by Ed Kranepool opened the door and the Dodgers stuck their foot in with run-producing singles by Tommy Davis and John Roseboro.

But with the tying and winning runs on first and third, Spahn reared back into his high kick and pitched out of the jam. He struck out Jim Lefebvre for strikeout No. 2,500 of his career, got Ron Fairly on a grounder and finished with a flourish by striking out John Kennedy.

Elsewhere, Roberto Clemente, still underweight from a battle with malaria this spring, drove in two runs with a pair of singles in Pittsburgh's 3-1 victory over San Francisco and Philadelphia edged Houston 2-1 in 13 innings on Ruben Amaro's key single. The other clubs were not scheduled.

In the only scheduled American League game, Boston defeated Washington 5-2.

Spahn was locked in a scoreless duel with Dodger starter Claude Osteen, who had allowed only three hits, until the eighth when Roy McMillan's squeeze bunt brought in Johnny Lewis.

Lewis produced the other New York runs with a two-run single in the ninth inning.

Clemente, who has six hits in his last 12 at-bats, singles following Bill Virdon's double in the first inning and drove in another Pirate run in the fifth after Dick Schofield singled and moved a second on a grounder.

Willie Mays provided the only San Francisco run with his third homer of the season. Mays' 420-foot belt came off Bob Friend, who needed Al McBean's relief help over the final 2-3 innings to get his second victory without a loss.

The Phillies edged the Astros in the 13th when reliever Hal Woodeshick issued two-out walks to Cookie Rojas and Frank Thomas before Amaro followed with his game-winning hit off Claude Raymond.

Gabe Paul, Tribe president, called it "the best squad to represent Cleveland in a number of years."

Paul told the Cleveland Advertising Club Tuesday: "We have fine ball players. Birdie has bled them into a fine team. It's a team with talent, spirit and ability. It also has speed, and that speed will result in winning many games."

The Indian ticket sellers were looking for the biggest opening-day crowd in five years—bigger than any crowd all season last year. A crowd of at least 35,000 was expected. The opening-day crowd that showed up in 1960, a day after popular slugger Rocky Colavito was traded away, totaled 52,576.

Colavito, back with the Indians again, is expected to be a big drawing card this season, and the Indians have benefitted from various civic promotions since they threatened to move last year.

Viking Thinclads Win Triangular

Bolstered by seven first places, Teays Valley captured top honors yesterday in a triangular track meet that included teams from St. Charles and The Plains.

The Viking thinclads walked away with the scoring production by notching 64 1/2 points. St. Charles finished second with 46 1/2 and The Plains accumulated 36.

Teays Valley grabbed firsts in the discus, pole vault, high hurdles, mile run, low hurdles and 880-yard run. The victors also won four seconds, four thirds and six fourths.

Celtics Hoping For Quick Finish

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Coach Red Auerbach, the colorful coach of the Boston Celtics, isn't ready to predict when he'll light his well-known victory cigar for the final time of the long National Basketball Association season.

But Auerbach indicated he'd just as soon make it three straight over the Los Angeles Lakers tonight and wrap up the championship in the fourth struggle Friday night, again here.

"We came to play. I hope we win one game, two games in Los Angeles. That's about all I can say," said Auerbach, who has a custom of lighting a cigar toward the end of a game when victory seems assured.

Dick Gernert, former outfielder, scouts for the Cincinnati Reds.

Jack Kaiser is in his 10th season as St. John's (Long Island) baseball coach. His teams began the current season with 230 victories against 57 defeats.

The Teays firsts were earned by Daft in the discus, J. Smith in the pole vault, Ray in the high and low hurdles, Kunkle in the mile and Puckett in the 880.

RECORDING second spots for the Vikings were Wilson in the high jump and broad jump, Annon in the 100-yard dash and Green in the 440.

Ray, the Vikings' double winner, covered the high hurdles in 17.2 and the lows in 22.8. Daft hurled the discus 111-8 1/2.

Smith's winning pole vault effort was 10-9. Kunkle paced the mile in 5:19.2 and Puckett covered the 880 in 2:22.5. The other first was turned in by the mile relay crew.

St. Charles was awarded four first places. The team's top performances were in broad jump, 100-yard dash, high jump and 220 dash. The Plains captured firsts in two events. They were the shotput and the 440-yard run.

Hunting, Fishing Permits Hit Mark

WASHINGTON (AP) — A record 34,342,176 hunters and fishermen spent more than $132 million, also a record, in the United States on hunting and fishing licenses and permits during the year ending last June 30.

The Interior Department reported today there were 20,219,457 fishermen listed as paid license holders by the 50 states, 387,813 more than in the previous year. They paid $60,213,427 for licenses and permits, a record by $2,433,168.

Licensed hunters increased by 123,824, to a total of 14,122,659. They spent $72,071,094 for their licenses and permits, an increase of $3,965,071.

By CYNTHIA LOWRY
AP Television-Radio Writer

NEW YORK (AP) — There are nights when NBC and CBS — the only networks that regularly present television news specials — seem to have run out of ideas on which to build an hour-long program.

So it was Tuesday evening with NBC's "Our Man in Washington," which had promised us a look at the nation's capital under a new administration. It turned out to be a lengthy, rambling affair pegged loosely on David Brinkley's remark that the city was born in the 19th century "and has caught every urban ailment since."

As it turned out, "Man in Washington" was not Brinkley so much as a post-Civil War Bell who had industriously snapped pictures of much of the city's architecture and important people. Considerable time was spent showing the old still pictures — and more time showing some out-of-focus, jumbled home movies taken recently by Washington tourists.

Brinkley called attention to Washington's growing pains, which are typical of other growing cities. One was the destruction of landmarks and historic sites to make more roads and bigger buildings. The site of Francis Scott Key's house is now marked, he noted, by a manhole cover on a busy street. Dave Garraway started his stint Monday as host of ABC's "Night Life" with some guest star types who seemed more interested in plugging their own current projects than in brightening up Dave's show.

Tuesday night, however, the program perked up considerably with the presence of Arthur Godfrey in an expansive mood and Morey Amsterdam.
